Empire Putting Pressure On Norway To Intern 'Prison' Steamer

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Germany's threat to avenge the liberation of 326 British prisoners of war from the 'hell ship' Altmark in Norwegian waters had its first result today when the 1,375-ton British destroyer Daring was torpedoed and sunk with an apparent loss of 157 lives.

Loss of the Daring was announced as the British government brought heavy pressure to bear on Germany to intern the Altmark and the surviving members of its crew for duration of the war.

Officials said that nine officers and 148 ratings were missing and feared to have been lost when the Daring was sent to the bottom.

The admiralty communique announcing the loss stated: "The secretary of admiralty regrets to announce that the destroyer Daring, under Commander S. A. Cooper, has been torpedoed and sunk."

"One officer and four ratings have been picked up. Nine officers and 148 ratings are missing and feared to have been lost. Their next of kin have been informed."

(The Daring was one of eight destroyers of the Defender class. It carried a normal complement of 145 men, to which war-time reserves had been added. The vessel, capable of a speed of 36 knots, was armed with four 4.7 inch guns, six smaller weapons and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes. The destroyer was completed late in 1932.)

Two Freighters Taken

Loss of the Daring was announced shortly after the admiralty revealed that two German freighters had been captured by the allied naval forces.

A British warship brought to a westerly port the captured German steamer Morea, a 1,927-ton vessel, which was carrying a 3,000-ton cargo of manganese. Its crew of 30 officers and men was interned.

Another announcement said the French navy had captured the German freighter Rostock, 2,542 tons, which had been accompanying the Morea.

A German seaman from the Morea said: "We were exasperated after idling in a Spanish port since the war began. We decided to risk our luck and race home."

The Morea stole out to sea, he related, under cover of a storm, but clearing skies betrayed it to a warship which placed a prize crew (Continued on Page Two)

Berlin Cites Destroyer's Sinking As First Act of Revenge for Loss Of 326 British Prisoners of War

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—German newspapers today hailed the torpedoing of the British destroyer Daring as proof of the Reich's determination to avenge the allegedly "criminal" boarding of the German steamer Altmark in a Norwegian fjord.

At the same time, the prediction was voiced that Norway will bluntly reject Britain's demand that the Altmark and her crew be interned for duration of the war.

So far as the incident itself was concerned, German press and officialdom kept up a drum-fire of criticism, giving wide prominence to a charge by the Altmark's captain that sailors from the British destroyer Cossack who boarded his vessel "looted" his quarters and those of his officers before quitting the ship with 326 British prisoners of war.

"On all sides, threats of dire revenge on England for her outright violation of international law in entering Norwegian territorial waters were heard, but there was no official indication of the nature of these reprisals.

Continued pressure was brought to bear on all neutral nations, with particular stress on Norway for the failure of any action by Norwegian gunboats stationed in Josing Fjord, scene of one of the most dramatic incidents of the war.

The Altmark incident, it was learned, may have an important bearing on the scheduled visit to Berlin of United States Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles.

The German government may hand him a dossier citing the Altmark case in a general indictment of British methods of warfare and an attempted refutation of London's claim that the British are fighting a humanitarian war "for

EBLIN INJURED AS CASE FALLS

Ice Plant Employee Taken To Hospital Suffering From Leg Fractures

With both legs broken below the knees in a mishap in the Eagles' Hoine, Sunday afternoon, William Eblin, widely known employee of the Circleville Ice Co., was a patient Monday in Berger Hospital.

Mr. Eblin was trapped when a metal case weighing approximately 400 pounds fell on him. The injured man saw the case falling and started to back away, but he fell backwards, the case landing on the lower part of his body. He was taken to Berger Hospital in the Mader Service ambulance and placed under the care of Dr. H. D. Jackson.

The fractures are serious, Dr. Jackson said, both being compound and comminuted, that is, the bones broken in numerous places.

Mr. Eblin lives in the property adjoining the ice plant on the Island Road.

FORMER G. O. P. GOVERNOR HITS SCHORR POLICY

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—Republican party leaders today studied the significance of a letter from former Gov. Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, to G.O.P. Chairman Ed D. Schorr, criticizing him for asking party chieftains to express their preferences among candidates for the U. S. senatorial nomination.

Davis, former mayor of Cleveland, intimated that Schorr was interfering with the open primary system when he attempted to single out candidates before the primary.

Schorr's poll indicated that sentiment of G.O.P. leaders was with Congressman Dudley A. White, of Norwalk, who is being opposed for the nomination by Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland.

Louis J. Taber, National Grange master, was expected to announce his entry in the same race this week in a speech at Martins Ferry. Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ironton, may enter the contest, too.

"The procedure you advocate contemplates a process of elimination of candidates for these offices by requesting a withdrawal of those not favored among a necessarily limited few Ohio Republicans asked by you to express themselves," Davis wrote to Schorr.

"The previous convention method of nominating party candidates was duly abolished by the people of this commonwealth in their progressive purpose to vest in themselves exclusively the power of choosing their public officials."

Pickaway County's check from the state for money spent for relief in January will total $3,696, William Hartsough, welfare department official, said Monday.

OHIO STATE U.S. RADIO TO BROADCAST DRAMA ON FAMED LOGAN ELM

Historic Logan Elm will be dramatized Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. over the Ohio State University station WOSU in the third of a series of broadcasts prepared jointly by the Ohio State Museum and the university.

The theme of the broadcast will be the so-called Lord Dunmore war. William Aldridge is author of the skit to be presented.

European Bulletins

OSLO, Norway.—Angered by British violation of Norwegian territorial waters in the Altmark incident, C. J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, warned today that Norway may halt its commerce with England. Hambro branded the incident as the "most flagrant violation of neutral territory of the war."

TOKYO.—The Japanese government has no intention whatever of making peace with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, it was announced by an official spokesman today coincident with denial of Chinese military advances in Kwangsi province.

LONDON.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today claimed that Danish anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on a German military plane flying over Danish territory in South Sleswig, near the German frontier. The Nazi plane was driven off, the dispatch said, but apparently was not hit by the Danish fire.

TOKYO.—A new warning to the United States to relax pressure against Japan was voiced today by a Tokyo foreign office spokesman. As a result of the failure of the United States to renew the abrogated Japanese-American trade pact, "the Japanese attitude toward the United States is stiffening," the spokesman said.

ONE RAIL WRECK HALTS TRAFFIC; OTHER KILLS TWO

ELKTON, Md., Feb. 19.—Tying up all three north-south tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad's New York - Philadelphia - Baltimore-Washington service, 12 cars of an 87-car freight were derailed today a mile north of Elkton.

No one was injured and the cause of the wreck was not immediately determined. While wrecking crews from Wilmington, Del., and Baltimore repaired the damage, through trains were rerouted over tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19.—Two Harrisburg railroad men were killed today in the East Altoona yards of the Pennsylvania railroad when a pusher locomotive crushed the cabin car in which they were riding.

H. C. Shutt, the conductor, was dead when removed from the wreckage, and S. E. Deaner, the brakeman, died enroute to the Altoona hospital.

FRANCE ADMITS LOSS IN AMBUSH

Renewed Activity Noted On Western Front; Parisian Papers Bitter

PARIS, Feb. 19.—A battle in No Man's Land in which French troops suffered casualties was admitted by the French high command today in War Communique No. 337, detailing latest activities on the Western Front.

"During the night east of the Nied River," the bulletin said, "our detachments suffered some losses when they stumbled into an ambush."

"On the Rhine River sector there was firing from artillery casements on each side."

At the same time it was revealed that for the first time since hostilities began the Germans opened up concentrated howitzer fire on a single French outpost a few kilometers east of the Moselle River.

Afterwards the Nazis tried to capture the outpost, using a company of infantry in their raid.

The shelling failed to destroy the French outpost, however, and devastating French retaliatory artillery fire completely checked the German attempt to capture the position.

German losses were not known, but it was believed that the (Continued on Page Two)

SEN. TAFT URGES "WORKING PLAN" OF COOPERATION

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Feb. 19.—Fully indorsing Republican program committee proposals, Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, today urged that his party adopt a "working plan" of cooperation with industry and agriculture for its 1940 platform.

Senator Taft, aspirant to the G. O. P. presidential nomination, called for government aid "instead of regulation" for industry in a Swarthmore College address. He charged that the Roosevelt administration "has failed to do what it promised, and has added $22,000,000,000 to the national debt."

"There are still plenty of frontiers today in industry, chemistry and development of new products and industries," asserted Senator Taft. "If America is only given a chance, we can return to a condition where people will have better income than ever before."

Advocating a five-point program to replace the New Deal's "inflationary" policies, the Ohio lawmaker suggested "reducing surtaxes in the highest brackets to 50 percent."

AKRON STUDENT AT OHIO UNIVERSITY TAKES LIFE

ATHENS, Feb. 19.—A suicide verdict was returned today by Coroner A. L. Prichard in the death of Joseph Ujhazy, 22-year-old Ohio University sophomore from South Akron, O. Classmates of Ujhazy found his body in their rooming house. He had been shot about the heart with a small caliber rifle.

McKellar Of Tennessee May Introduce Bill To End Relations; King Of Utah Pledges Aid In Bitter Tirade On Russians

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Formal introduction in the senate of two measures striking at Soviet Russia was seriously considered today by one of the veteran legislators in congress—Senator Kenneth McKellar (D) Tennessee.

Another Democratic veteran, Senator King of Utah, immediately promised his support for either move.

McKellar studied, first, chances for adoption of a resolution breaking off U. S.-Soviet diplomatic relations, a step for the present opposed by the Roosevelt administration.

Secondly, the Tennesseean considered a fight to cut out of the pending State Department supply bill all funds for maintaining the American embassy in Moscow. This step would be less direct but almost as drastic as severance of relations. Proposed in the house recently by Rep. McCormack (D) Massachusetts, it was defeated by only three votes.

Apprised of McKellar's actions, Senator King said bluntly:

"Personally, I'd like to see us discontinue relations with Russia, a country that has no honor, no respect for treaties and avows she seeks to set up the doctrine of Communism in every country on earth."

"I would support moves in this direction; the sooner we have nothing to do with Russia the better."

TRIO IN DENIAL OF HUNTSVILLE DEATH CHARGES

BELLEFONTAINE, Feb. 19.—The three defendants jointly indicted for the hammer slaying February 1 of Fred Jenkins, 51-year-old railroad telegrapher, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned on the first degree murder charge. They were held without bond pending trial.

Counsel for the defense waived trial by jury for Jenkins' widow, Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, 47, and the son, Merlin Jenkins, 18, who will be tried March 19 and 20, respectively. Donald Slater, 18, who reportedly told authorities he killed Jenkins because of the telegrapher's treatment of his family, will come up for trial March 18.

Jenkins' body was found at Huntsville, in Montgomery County, 75 miles from his Huntsville home.

DONAHEY TURNS DOWN DEM PLAN

Solon Hits Subterfuge; Garner May File For Ohio Support

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Emphatically refusing to become a stalking horse for renomination of President Roosevelt, Senator Vic Donahey (D) Ohio, today rejected the proposal of Ohio Democratic leaders that the senator become a "favorite son" candidate for the presidency.

Asserting acceptance of the proposal "would be subterfuge," Donahey said that he has repeatedly opposed "the emasculating of the primary act by those political leaders who would hark back to the 'good old days.'"

The senator's announcement immediately raised the possibility of Vice President Garner filing in

MADER ATTENDS CONFAB OF DEM PARTY CHAIRMEN

John F. Mader, chairman of the Pickaway County Democratic executive committee, attended a meeting in Columbus Sunday of chairmen of Ohio executive committees. A report was made to the chairmen of the action of the state central and executive committees which met Saturday in Columbus.

Mr. Mader said that all districts would soon name delegates and alternates to the National Convention to be held in Chicago. The chairman declared that Charles Sawyer, who bowed out of the "possible candidate" picture Saturday, was highly commended by the county chairmen and that Senator Vic Donahey and Ex-Governor Martin L. Davey remained as the doubtful figures in the picture.

He declared that Ohio delegates would do their utmost to have President Roosevelt accept nomination for another term of office. "These major problems," Mr. Mader said, "will be left for the state committees to decide, this being part of their business."

MOSCOW, Feb. 19.—Belief that Soviet troops will overrun Finland within a few weeks spread in Russia today as the Red army high command issued a communique indicating that Koivisto fort on the western end of the Finnish Mannerheim Line has been cut off.

The war bulletin claimed that the Soviet forces had registered major advances

HELSENKI, Feb. 19.—A special military adviser from the French army arrived in Helsinki today, coincident with a series of violent counter-attacks by the Finnish air force on Soviet advanced positions on the Carelian Isthmus.

He was Lieutenant Colonel Jean Ganeval, described as a special envoy of General Maurice Marie Gustav Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the French and British forces on the Western Front.

The exact nature of his mission was not disclosed, but it was assumed his visit was in connection with France's pledge to give the Finns all possible military and material aid short of an expeditionary force.

on the Carelian Isthmus, capturing three towns on the Gulf of Finland, and that the Finnish defenders were continuing their retreat.

(The London News Chronicle reported from Moscow that the Red army, now only four miles from Viborg, was building up a gigantic crescendo expected to culminate in a smashing blow this week.)

"The offensive on the Carelian Isthmus developed successfully and the enemy is continuing to retreat," the communique stated.

"Soviet troops reached the Salmenkita River between Lakes Vuoksi and Juaranpa, occupied the fortified area and village of Muolaa, the Somme station on the coastal railway six miles south of Viborg and also the town of Johannes and Malsalhti station on the coastal railway, thus reaching the western coast of the Gulf of Finland north of Bjorkoe Island.

(Johannes and Malsalhti are both north of Kioivisto, where the important Finnish fort is located. Loss of the fort would be a serious military set-back to the Finns.)

"Saturday and yesterday," the communique continued, "our troops captured 313 defensive fortifications, including 41 reinforced concrete artillery forts."

SCARLETT'S HUBBY WINS LONDON DIVORCE DECREE

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Herbert Leigh Holman today was granted a divorce from Vivien Leigh, star of "Gone With the Wind," on charges that the tempestuous "Scarlett O'Hara" was guilty of misconduct with the Film Actor Laurence Olivier.

The case was undefended and it was expected that custody of the couple's daughter, Suzanne, six, would go to Holman. They were married in 1933.

Holman, a London barrister, filed suit in the proceedings January 5. Laurence Olivier, named as co-respondent, was divorced recently by his wife, Jill Esmond, an English actress. At present he is in the United States.

"There were no important changes on other sectors. Planes were active bombing troops and military objectives. Twenty-one enemy planes were shot down in air combats."

HELSINKI, Feb. 19 — Russian pressure against the hard-pressed Finnish Mannerheim line relaxed on the Carelian Isthmus today as it was revealed that Finland's commander-in-chief, Baron Karl Mannerheim, has ordered a strategic retreat from the first line defenses throughout the entire Isthmus.

Dispatches stated that the withdrawal had been carried out "magnificently" by the Finnish defenders and that the lives of many soldiers were thus saved.

The Finnish front lines are now established in new, undamaged positions, stronger than those advanced lines they formerly held.

Rest Provided

In addition, authorities said, the decrease in the strength of the Russian attacks will give the Finnish troops an opportunity to obtain a little much-needed rest.

As noon passed with no great Russian pressure against the new Finnish lines on the Isthmus, it began to appear as if the Russians also needed a rest after their tremendous series of attacks which lasted nearly three weeks.

But it was reported from Leningrad via Copenhagen that Soviet War Commissar Klement Voroshilov had ordered the capture of Viborg "at all costs" before February 23, the anniversary of the founding of the Red army.

Meanwhile, Finnish authorities and the public still believed optimistically that Finland will receive additional aid from abroad in her hour of need.

Believe Help Coming

"Help can still save us, and we believe that it is coming," were the words heard everywhere in Helsinki today.

Meager reports from the northern Kuumo sector of Finland's eastern frontier appeared to indicate that a major Finnish victory is developing there.

These reports said the Russians have lost 3,000 men on that sector in a series of bitter battles as well as much war material which is now being rushed to the Isthmus to buttress the Finnish defenses there.

(The Rome radio quoted a dispatch from Stockholm stating the Finns routed two Soviet divisions on the Kuumo sector, according to Reuters news agency.)

All over Finland yesterday the Russians carried out a large number of air raids. Several trains were attacked with bombs and machine guns and one was gutted by fire. Many civilians were reported killed and wounded.

Minor Convicts Pardoned
To provide more men for action at the front, President Kyosti Kallio pardoned all convicts serving terms of one year or less.

Along with the cessation of Russian activity against the Mannerheim line, there were multiplying advices of assaults by the Finnish air force against the Russian front lines, troop concentrations to the rear and supply lines leading back to major Soviet bases.

The Finnish air force, growing in strength, is now said to be capable of hampering the Russian forces on the Isthmus to a major degree.

In the battle zone just north of Lake Ladoga the Finns also successfully defeated Russian troops, killing an asserted 700.

Forty-five persons were reported killed in yesterday's Russian air raids throughout southern Finland, but Helsinki authorities claimed that 37 Soviet planes had been shot down.

COURT LETS MAE SUE MDIVANI FOR SUPPORT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Winning the first step in her campaign to regain possession of their 13-year-old son, Mae Murray, star of the silent screen, today had court permission to sue her former husband, Prince David Mdivani, for support.

Recently a New York court refused to force Bessie Cunningham of Albany, who has been keeping the boy, Koran David Mdivani, to turn him over to his mother until a suitable home existed.

Miss Murray is seeking $1,000 a month from the prince to establish and maintain a home. Mdivani's attorneys contend their client settled all financial obligations to his wife when they were divorced in 1933.

Apparently the crew made no attempt to scuttle the Morea. At the same time, the government awaited a reply from Oslo to a complaint lodged by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax against the failure of Norway to establish the presence of British prisoners aboard the Altmark while it was at Bergen.

Lord Halifax lodged the British complaint in a talk with the Norwegian minister, Erik Colban, when the latter called at the foreign office to deliver his government's "serious protest" against "gross violation" of Norway's rights when the British cruiser Cossack invaded Norwegian waters and rescued British seamen from the Altmark.

At the suggestion of Donahey, Ohio's Democratic state central and executive committees, met last week to reach a decision on who the Ohio delegation would support for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Ohio leaders decided their delegation should support President Roosevelt for a third term in event he sought renomination.

However, in the absence of any written consent from President Roosevelt (a requirement under Ohio law for the filing of a slate of instructed delegates) the Ohio leaders proposed that Donahey consent to become a "favorite son candidate" to tie up the Ohio delegation for Mr. Roosevelt.

FRANCE ADMITS LOSS IN AMBUSH

Renewed Activity Noted On

French captured several wounded German soldiers.

A war ministry spokesman said that according to preliminary reports, about 20 French soldiers were killed by the German ambush, adding that this was an "important number in relation to the size of the patrol."

He added that the German infantry at the front is daily taking the initiative and increasing the numbers of its patrols, reconnaissance expeditions and raids as winter begins to break.

Four German reconnaissance planes flew over eastern France, but no aerial battles developed. Radio working parties led the exchanges along the Rhine, while west of the Saar there were several brief clashes between French and German patrols.

Meanwhile the French press continued to criticize Sweden for not helping the Finns and also attacked Norway for its part in the Altmark incident.

The newspaper Oeuvre commented:

"Sweden and Norway are maintaining an unglorious attitude before shortly playing the role of unhappy countries. If neutrals abandon neutrality because Germany makes a noise, they must expect that we will reply with quiet force."

Le Journal added: "It must be admitted that Norway, by her control of the Altmark, became Germany's accomplice."

Charges also were aired that Norwegian territorial waters have become Germany's sea route for gasoline and iron.

MRS. SARAH FETHEROLF DIES NEAR LAURELVILLE

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Fetherolf, 74, widow of Jefferson Fetherolf, died Sunday at 9 p. m. at her home near Laurelville. She was a daughter of William and Sarah Kennedy, both natives of Ireland.

Surviving are the following children, Pearl, Fred, Arthur and Gordon Fetherolf and Mrs. Susie Fegh. The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Mt. Carmel Church, the Rev. S. C. Elsea officiating with burial in the adjoining cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh and Sons.

OHIO U. HAS LARGEST SEMESTER ENROLLMENT

ATHENS, Feb. 19.—The largest second semester enrollment in the history of Ohio University was announced today by Dr. Frank B. Dille, Registrar.

The 3,210 students enrolled for the second semester are in classes on the campus and this figure does not include registration in Ohio University's Zanesville and Portsmouth divisions.

The usual drop from the fall semester figures was not as noticeable this year as the full time semester enrollment was 3,307. The drop from the fall semester figures was less than 100 students.

The fall semester enrollment including the Zanesville and Portsmouth division figures was 3,561.

WOMAN NABBED FOR MURDERING TEXAS AUTOIST

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 19.—A 24-year-old gun-toting woman bandit was held for grand jury action today on murder charges after police said she confessed the torture and murder of J. P. Calloway, a Houston, Texas, salesman who had given her and a male companion a ride in his car.

The woman, Mrs. Claude D. Henry, was quoted by Sheriff Henry A. Reed as relating that she and her companion, whom she termed "a yellow rat" but refused to name, had been picked up by Calloway near Vinton, La., and had ridden with him through Lake Charles before the woman shot him.

Coroner E. L. Clements said Calloway had been inhumanly tortured. His body bore marks of a pair of pliers, and he had been forced to ride cramped in the small rear compartment of the car for many miles in freezing temperatures, the coroner said.

FINNS FINALLY REPORT BIG VICTORY IN NORTH

HELSINKI, Feb. 19.—In an official communique, the Finnish government today for the first time confirmed that the Soviet 18th division has been "destroyed" north of Lake Ladoga.

A total of 18,000 Russians were killed or taken prisoner, the announcement said.

CORONER PROBES GIRL'S DEATH IN HER PARKED CAR

NIGHT CLUB SINGER, 19, STILL OBJECT OF HUNT

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Donna Manning, 19, a New York night club singer, was still among the missing today.

The girl has not been seen since last Tuesday when she left a hotel suite she occupied with her mother, Mrs. Fay Hochreich who in silent film days was an actress known as Fay Steuben, according to the police.

Mrs. Hochreich said she was certain no men were involved in the girl's disappearance. She said Donna had great hopes of sharing in a $65,000,000 anti-trust suit her father, David Hochreich, of Providence, R. I., has instituted but that a lawyer advised them recently their share would be negligible if the suit was successful.

YOUTH, 23, ARRESTED

Lloyd Flowers, 23, of the Groveport community, was in the county jail Monday awaiting a hearing before Mayor W. B. Cady on a charge of check forgery. Flowers was arrested Saturday by Police Chief W. AUDITORS CHECK SCHOOL BOOKS IN FUND CHANGE

Examiners from the State Bureau of Accounting and the examiner of the Bureau of Inspection for Public Offices are checking ledgers presented by Fred Mitchell, clerk of the Monroe Township Board of Education, to arrive at a correct figure of the unexpended balance of the Muhlenberg Township Board of Education funds which Monroe was ordered by Common Pleas Court to return.

Approximately $5,000 was taken by the Monroe board from Muhlenberg when the school system was transferred to Monroe last fall. Following much litigation and a reversal of the Common Pleas Court decision by the Court of Appeals, jurisdiction of the schools was given back to Muhlenberg and Judge Meeker Terwilliger ordered the unexpended Muhlenberg funds be returned.

Lloyd White, clerk of the Muhlenberg board, and Fred Mitchell met with Judge Terwilliger Saturday at which time Monroe was to return to Muhlenberg $2,300 of the bond retirement fund and $800 of the general fund, the latter figure to be used by Muhlenberg to pay its current school expenses and salaries.

An exact determination of the balance will be available when the examiners have completed inspection of the accounts presented.

The Monroe school board in conjunction with the Pickaway County Board has filed an appeal with the Supreme Court to get an opinion on the legality of such school transfers which the Court of Appeals held was illegal.

VIC TO INFORM OHIO DEMOCRATS OF HIS POLICY

Whether Donahey Will Be Nominal 'Favorite' Son Is Uncertain

PARTY PLAN IN BALANCE

Some Believe Senator May Turn Down Committee's Suggestion

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — Democrats of Ohio looked to Washington today for an answer to the question whether harmony will prevail in their ranks as the July 15 Chicago national convention date approaches.

In the vest-pocket of U. S. Senator Vic Donahey in Washington reposed that answer. Sometime during the day he had promised to give it to anxious Democratic leaders in his home state.

The statement should clear up whether Donahey will permit his name to be used in the May 14 presidential preference primary as the nominal "favorite son" candidate. Opinion was about evenly divided on what his answer would be.

Bowing to the wishes of his party's central and executive state committees, as expressed in a joint meeting in Columbus Saturday, would mean for Donahey receding from his previously expressed opposition to running in the Ohio primary as a "stalking horse" for President Roosevelt.

Would Upset Plans

On the other hand, refusal to do so would mean upsetting the wishes of a "harmony meeting" of representative Democrats called at Donahey's own suggestion to decide upon policies governing the selection of national convention delegates.

As adopted Saturday with only one dissenting voice — that of Donahey's son-in-law, James W. Huffman — the policy resolution calls upon Ohio's 52 delegates to vote for re-nomination of President Roosevelt unless and until he makes it clear that he is not a candidate.

Those are their instructions even though Donahey, the nominal "favorite son" candidate, should decide in the meantime that he personally favors Vice President John Garner or some other aspirant, and the senator's actions in Washington have never implied that he is enthusiastic about a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

The resolution clearly tied Donahey's hands if he choose to become the "favorite son" candidate. In view of that and his widely-known independence, a sizeable group of political observers expected him to decline the honor.

Might Be Expedient

The others felt that the senator might find it politically expedient to accept, despite his personal feelings, because of the overwhelming sentiment among Ohio Democratic committeemen in favor of a third term for the president. This sentiment was demonstrated conclusively in the vote on the pro-Roosevelt resolution Saturday.

In support of their belief that he would accept, the latter group of observers cited that Donahey must be a candidate for reelection this year if he wishes to remain in the Senate. To publicly rebuke party spokesmen in his home state under such circumstances, they reasoned, would be something that even Donahey, with his acknowledged vote-gathering ability, would not relish undertaking.

There was criticism of Donahey and his attitude of independence at the meeting Saturday. It came from J. Fuller Trump, committeeman from the senator's own congressional district, the seventh. And it was bitter, even though limited in expression to a single committee member.

Trump refused to vote for Donahey for "favorite son," asserting that the senator had seen fit to place himself above the party, had forgotten those who helped him get elected, and had completely ignored any county organization "in his insistent effort to build for Donahey alone."

But for the importance of the Donahey episode, the attitude of Ex-Gov. Martin L. Davey in

Congress May Postpone Action on Relief Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Congressional action on relief appropriations has been postponed at the request of the administration, which wishes to study further—and perhaps revise upwards — budget estimates made by President Roosevelt in January, it was learned today.

Rep. Clifton Woodrum (D) Virginia, in charge of relief appropriations in the house, disclosed that the relief bill probably will not be started on its way through congress until late in April or early in May.

Since the President submitted his budget estimated, which cut WPA and other relief agencies $600,000,000 under present expenditure, a vigorous campaign has been launched to increase the total.

In laying the relief problem before congress the President estimated relief expenditures for the next fiscal year at $1,300,000,000. At the time he said this represented "a large — perhaps too large — reduction in current expenditures."

"The appropriations committee will postpone consideration of the relief bill at the request of the administration, so that further study can be made," said Woodrum. "I do not understand that this means it will be increased—but that it is desired to study general conditions."

The WPA, which was sharply cut last year, reduced its rolls as much as possible last summer and increased them this winter. The rolls reached a peak on February 7, with 2,287,467 persons on work relief.

While some members of congress are advocating repeal of the provision which required persons on WPA rolls for 18 months to take a 30 days "vacation" without pay, Woodrum insisted that restrictions adopted by congress last year have worked well.

Elimination of special grants for the Federal Theatre Project and similar specialized relief activities resulted in cutting off highly-paid employees and spreading the funds to many others, he said.

Woodrum said he was informed that the Workers Alliance, organization of WPA workers, suffered a heavy blow because of restrictions initiated by congress last year. When relief recipients found that the alliance could not fulfill promises to keep them in jobs, they quit paying dues, he said.

Butler sees Russia and Germany joining soon

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Russia and Germany may join forces and occupy and partition the Balkans in the next few weeks, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Colombia University, prophesied today on the basis of reports he has received from correspondents abroad.

Italy's action in such an eventuality is uncertain, Dr. Butler said. Should the Balkans be overrun by the Russians and Germans, the British and French might decide against military strategy to halt the move and establish a new defense front in the East such as they now have in the West, Dr. Butler continued. The two sets of belligerents would then "settle down to a prolonged economic struggle," he said.

Hotly resentful of his ouster by the state central committee after nearly 40 years of Democratic leadership in the most populous county, Gongwer served notice that a fierce battle will be waged in the May 14 primary to elect enough of his own county committee members to oust Miller.

Whether Gongwer succeeds or fails, continuance of the party strife seemed inescapable in a county where the Democrats may sorely need unity in the next election.

FILM STAR SCHEDULED

Margaret Lindsay, top-ranking film star is en route to New York from Hollywood to headline the George Jessel "Celebrity Program" over the NBC-Red network Thursday, February 22 at 8 p. m. She will take part in a special sketch with Jessel and Singer Benay Venuta. Another personality will be Dave Irwin, author and explorer, who had the Eskimo Village at the World's Fair last season. Music is under the baton of Peter Van Steeden.

KOSTELANETZ PROGRAM

Perhaps one of the most requested arrangements he has yet presented on the air will be offered again by Andre Kostelanetz on his "Tune-Up Time" program over CBS Monday, February 26 at 8 p. m., when his 45-piece orchestra plays "The Happy Farmer" by Schumann. Kostelanetz will also feature Cole Porter's "I've Got My Eyes on You" and a choral arrangement of "Finlandia" (O, Singing Land) by Sibelius.

"CHURCH MOUSE" AIRED

Louis Calhern will support Ruth Cordon on the Star Theatre Wednesday, February 21, 9 p. m. over CBS, when "Churchmouse" is dramatized. "Churchmouse" is the story of Susie Sachs, an underfed steno, who lands a secretarial job with a Viennese banker. She changes from office to evening clothes, lands the banker as a husband, and grabs herself a title all at one blow. On the Hollywood end of the show, Ken Murray will appear in another "Murray Family" skit and music will be furnished by Frances Langford, and Kenny Baker, Irene Ryan will also be heard.

BRIEF RADIO NOTES

Frankie Carle, pianist in Horace Heidt's programs, who won the ASCAP award of last season for the most popular song, "Sunrise Serenade," has a new one on the market, "Lover's Lullaby" which he composed in a hospital while recovering from an appendectomy.

Rush Hughes, new emcee on the Tuesday night "Johnny Presents," programs has added two new researchers to his staff, making it one of the largest in radio. They gather material for his "Hughes-reel."

Walter Greaza, who plays Inspector Donovan in the "Perfect Crime" stories on "Johnny Presents" Friday nights, has returned to New York from Los Angeles where he did some picture work.

Negotiations to present "Gone With the Wind" as a serial for 39 or 52 weeks over the air are reported to have been mixed by Nicholas M. Schenck, film producer.

Teddy Powell's orchestra now has an NBC wire from the Southland Ballroom in Boston and his late evening hour music is featuring several new tunes he has written including "Haunted."

Paul Stewart, actor in "My Son and I," has taken over direction of the CBS "Short Short Stories" series.

Chicago network actors are taking advantage of the current legitimate theatre boom by doubling into stage plays. Offers were made this week to Sunda Love, "Step-mother" star and Virginia Payne, radio's "Ma Perkins."

SCHOOL BAND TO PLAY AT TUESDAY'S GAMES

The Circleville High School band will play Tuesday evening during the basketball games at the Circleville Athletic Club. The games will benefit the Band Uniform Fund. J. Wray Henry, high school principal, said that the band will play a concert on the floor between the halves.

ASHVILLE

By S. D. Fridley
Ashville, Phone 79

John Curry, out on one of those very frosty cold days and easy enough now to know that he had ought not to have been doing such thing, received a much frozen foot. Under the doctor's care, it is on the improve.

The park shelter house, some 40x80 feet in dimension base measurement, 10 feet in height, is completed by the contractor, Fred Curry and Herb Gregg. To serve the purpose for which it is intended to serve, much yet remains to be done in form of enclosure. The date, however, for this last named construction to begin, has not been named.

In "our rounds" Saturday visited for a short time at the "Turn Around the Corner" Boor plow attachment works, and found both Mr. Boor and his assistant, Marion Glick, both very busy putting the "finishing touches" on another one of their "new fangled" breaking plow devices for perfect round corner turns without a halt of the pulling motor power. Mr. Boor told us he is fitting up several of these for demonstrators which will be put to work and on trial soon as the weather will permit of field plowing.

An extraordinary fine team of horses is sure to attract attention wherever shown. We are telling you of a matched team of heavy, sorrel mares, weight 3600 pounds, six and seven years of age, full sisters and owned Saturday by our horse dealer, Clarence Messick. This team is valued at $500 and was purchased by Mr. Messick a few days ago in Union County. Said he hoped this team would remain on the farm and in the community.

Clyde Brinker, deputy registrar for auto license plates, is expecting a supply in now soon. Sale begins March 1 and may be used by the 10th.

Did they get out? We say they did. Saturday at "headquarters" the dozen or so assembled there met up with an unusual experience and the superstitious ones have the shivers yet. Dr. Gardner came in which is a usual custom and even when Ed. Schlegel, mortician, appeared nothing was particularly thought of it, but when George Finch over Commercial Point way, appeared on the scene, another mural artist, that was more than the "sure sign" boys could take and a lot of 'em had business to attend to elsewhere — two undertakers and a doctor in one spot at the same time was too much for most anybody to take and not feel creepy like.

HITLER GETS 'EM UP

THEY can't get 'em up, they can't get 'em up, in the morning! Maybe they can in the German army, where discipline has always been very strict. But the Labor Front is getting in Dutch with the government, by being late to work sometimes, and even taking a day off once in a while. From now on, there will have to be a mighty good reason for any such laxity. "Whoever absents himself from work without being seriously ill," says a Nazi poster displayed in factories, offices and stores throughout the country, "grossly violates his duty toward the commonwealth. By iron discipline, see to it that legal punitive measures must be resorted to as little as possible."

So Heinie will have to tumble out and get on the job whether he feels like it or not, and put in his ten hours without grumbling. It's one of the prices he pays for the blessings of a Nazi government. He must work harder and longer, and sacrifice himself more and more, as that government embroils itself more deeply with its neighbors.

And does Heinie see that he is becoming a helpless slave of the Nazi State, with less and less life of his own? We wonder.

SCHOOL-GIRL EARNERS

BOYS working their way through high school are an old story. Boys who do not have to work to pay for textbooks and clothing often have paper routes or do Saturday odd jobs to earn their own spending money.

It is less well known that girls, too, often work their way through high school. One city school reports that 106 of its girl students are earning part of their schooling. They do light housework, take care of babies, fill part-time store and office jobs. One has a daily job minding a dog. They have no false pride about humble tasks and no fear of hard work.

The school itself helps the girls to find employment. The head of the vocational department investigates carefully before he sends a girl to any job. Her health and well-being are considered as important as the money she is to earn.

That school is proud of the determined young ladies who are willing to earn the education they want. And there must be many others in many other schools.

Everything will quiet down now for a little while, except on the Finnish front. The President has gone fishing.

The Anzacs have reached the war zone again, and Hitler may as well quit.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

POPE INSPIRED MISSION

WASHINGTON—When Secretary Hull issued his statement that he had been working toward peace through neutral nations, it caused lifted eyebrows among neutral diplomats in Washington.

Gathering at a cocktail party that afternoon, a Swiss diplomat asked a Dutch diplomat:

"Were you the neutral nation Secretary Hull conferred with?"

"No. Were you?"

And this question, asked among the Belgians, Norwegians, Swedes, and other neutrals finally revealed that no neutral representative at the gathering had been approached by Secretary Hull.

Simultaneously word leaked from some of Mr. Hull's boys that he had not been consulted regarding the European peace pilgrimage of his Under Secretary, Sumner Welles, and that he was most irate about it. This story, widely published, gave such an impression that Welles was taking a mere pleasure trip, that Mr. Hull finally issued another statement last Wednesday covering the Welles situation.

Real fact is that there was some truth in all of the above, but not the whole truth. And the parts unpublished are the most significant.

REAL STORY

It was true that Hull was taken aback by word that his Under Secretary was going to Europe to discuss peace, although this idea had been discussed in a very general way some time before.

Anyway, when Roosevelt announced at his press conference on February 9 that he had decided to send Welles to Europe, Hull hurriedly threw together a statement which in effect made it clear that, as the boss of the State Department, he was not being left out in the cold. The statement, issued the same day as the President's Welles announcement, was whipped into shape in about fifteen minutes. It emphasized the American policy of discussing peace through the neutrals.

All this tended to befog the basic issue of peace, but on that basic issue, Mr. Hull was quite correct. Some extremely important conversations had taken place with the neutrals. Only the neutral diplomats didn't know about them, and also they were not held through the medium of the United States.

They were held through the Pope, acting in closest co-operation with Washington. And this is the foundation for the Welles trip.

For some weeks, Luigi Maglione, Papal secretary of state, has been in touch with the neutral nations. And more recently he has also been in touch with the belligerents.

These conversations have revealed a not uncompromising basis for peace. Just exactly how promising it is, will be partly for Welles to decide when he gets to Rome. So far there have been some indications that a statement might come from the Vatican, even going so far as to call a peace conference.

This, however, will be decided after Welles gets to Rome. The main goal of both the President and the Pope is to get

Visiting the Oldest Hospital in the U. S.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I RECENTLY described my visit to the oldest hospital on the North American continent—the Hospital of Jesus in Mexico City. On my way to Mexico I paused in New Orleans and visited the oldest hospital in the United States—the Charity Hospital. (The second and third oldest hospitals in North America are in Canada.)

There is some partisan dispute as to which is the oldest hospital in the United States, some claiming the honor for the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. The Philadelphiaans say that the Charity was first an almshouse and only later a hospital, but the record shows that as early as May 20, 1737, there were five patients under treatment at the Charity.

In 1736 a sailor, Jean Louis, died in New Orleans, leaving all his estate to found a haven for the city's poor. They were to be given suitable work "so there would be no mendicants." In 1779 the old hospital was destroyed by a hurricane, but in 1782 the gift of over $100,000 by the richest citizen of the New World provided a new building, with much of the debris of the old being used. The calamity of fire destroyed it in 1809, but it was again rebuilt near Rampart Street. Within the past few years it has moved to Tulane Avenue, in fine new quarters.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Famous Doctor

The most famous of its doctors was David C. Kerwas. He was attached to the invading British army in 1814, but allowed himself to be captured by Andrew Jackson's troops at the Battle of New Orleans because he felt his future was in the United States.

The old records show some things strange to modern eyes. The hospital was the largest dispensary for alcoholic drinks in the city in 1832, and made a large part of its income by operating as a saloon. The expenditures at this time included $298 for candles of sperm whale fat, $202 for leeches to bleed patients with, and $111 for surgical instruments. This scanty allowance is accounted for by the fact that each surgeon provided his own instruments and was very proud of them and the case that held them.

Breakfast: Fruit, one portion; breakfast cereal, coffee with teaspoonful cream and one lump of sugar.

Lunch: One cup broth, one poached egg, one slice toast with butter; lettuce and tomato salad; one glass of milk, black coffee or tea with lemon.

Dinner: One portion lean corned beef and cabbage; one small baked potato, one slice bread and butter; junket dessert, black coffee or tea with lemon.

Day's Calories—1000.

Unhealthiest City

New Orleans, by reason of its geographic position and also because of its port, which harbored world-wide shipping, was then the unhealthiest city in the country. Not only malaria bred in its mosquito-infested swamps, but yellow fever was brought in ships coming from Jamaica and the West Indies. The United States seaports from 1750 to 1850 were the sites of epidemic after epidemic of yellow fever. Modern sanitation has eliminated all that, and a medical student today probably never sees a single case. I know I never have seen a case.

The drainage of New Orleans was always a great problem, and gave rise to another set of plagues—dysentery and cholera. These, too, are diseases of the past.

In 1834 the internal management and nursing in the hospitals were taken over by the Sisters of Saint Vincent de Paul, known generally as the Sisters of Charity—an event considered the most notable in the annals of the hospital.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Femine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

GRASP YOUR CHANCE

YOUR PROBLEM is not what you can do against perfect play by your opponents, but what you should do against the play they actually furnish. Much of the best bridge consists of seizing an opportunity presented by the other fellow's human frailties of the other fellow, just as a good deal of his fine work is in taking advantage of the occasional slips you make yourself. Don't say you never slip. Everybody does.

North bid 2-Clubs to open this deal. South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps, an enterprise which would have been doomed had South not shown up with a few dregs of strength.

West led his heart Q, which was covered by dummy's K and taken by the A. East returned the 8, West won the rest of the suit by leading to the heart 10. The declarer took three high diamonds, sent the club Q to East's K, the diamond J was cashed, but after that the contract was safe. West's last two hearts were good, but he could never use them.

A player of more experience in West's place would have let the dummy win the second heart trick with the 10, in the hope that his partner had three. When East got in the lead later, he could have led to the heart J and West would have won the contract.

West's opportunity never should have come to him. A truly able declarer would not have covered the heart Q lead, but would have let it win. If then the J was led, he would have covered; if a small heart, he would have played the 10. By this means he would have blocked the suit beyond peradventure of a doubt, and so would have made his contract regardless of anything the defenders could have done.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

MRS. HAYWORTH was far from asleep. She was lying in her bed enjoying her anger to the full. Her husband's merry whistle added further to her irritation. She sat up indignantly.

"Dover, stop that insane noise this instant!"

Father Hayworth stopped dead in the middle of a note, and looked at her in astonishment.

"Well, mother, I'm darned! What's eatin' you tonight?"

"Sit down," she commanded. "I want to talk with you."

"Of course, dear," the retort syrup king planted himself in an uncomfortable modernistic chair with an irritatingly cheerful air.

"But don't keep me sittin' in this thing too long. I'll get callouses."

"Well, get them!" snapped his wife. "Who cares?"

She stood up, looking down on her husband with penetrating eyes that sparkled with indignation.

"I found out something today," she began angrily. "and never mind asking my source of information, because I won't tell you. About an actress!"

Mr. Hayworth reached for his pipe, grinning.

"It's a lie. It was two actresses. Now, Carrie, calm yourself and sit down. You'll have a heart attack. I haven't been doing anything wrong and you know it. You've been listening to somebody's gossip again."

"Who said anything about you doing anything wrong," the wife snapped at him again. "It's that son of yours this time."

"Well, then, let's have it," Mr. Hayworth said patiently. "But softly, please. There are servants in the house."

"You know perfectly well I never raise my voice," the woman said regally. "Do you know who that girl is you hired to play the piano on that morning radio program?"

"Sure," the old man said placidly. "Charlotte O'Neil. Calls herself Cholly for theatrical purposes. Good piano player, too. Couldn't do better myself."

Usually teasing brought Carrie out of her fits of temper. But it had the opposite effect this time. She stamped her foot.

"Will you stop fooling around and talk some sense, Dover Hayworth! What I'm trying to tell you is that your son is mixed up with this red-headed person."

The mischief left the father's round, cheerful face. He looked bewildered.

"What's that? What do you mean, mixed up? He doesn't even know her!"

"Oh, doesn't he? Well, she's been on his yacht and he takes her places. She's his—" the mother hesitated. "Well, she has tricked Junior into putting her on the air

some way. He's been framed. I know it!"

Hayworth had lost some of his color.

"Oh, piffle!" he exclaimed. "I don't believe it. You've been listening to talk again."

"My source of information"—Mrs. Hayworth sat down firmly, glad that she had impressed him with the seriousness of things at last—"is infallible. It came from someone who is very fond of Junior."

The syrup magnate by that time was just a worried father. Dover, the third, had been a remarkably good boy to have had everything in the world dished up to him. Too much money and no responsibility usually, sooner or later, meant that a young man would get into some kind of trouble. Woman trouble was more than likely to be it.

The old man sighed. His wife remained silent, watching him. Hayworth got up, running his hand through his thinning gray locks.

"Well," he said then, "I hope this is just talk, Carrie. But there may be something to it. I'll have a talk with the boy when he gets in. I'll leave word. We'll soon get to the bottom of this thing."

The mother had lost her anger. She loved her husband very dearly, in spite of her occasional tantrums. She got up and went over to put her hand on his arm.

"I'm sorry I was so upset, Dover. But when I found out this girl was a good friend of Dover's and that he hadn't told us, I just went crazy with worry. You know boys, and how bad girls can wrap them around their fingers."

Hayworth patted his wife's hand.

"Well, I have a great deal of confidence in our boy, Carrie. And you get some sleep and stop worrying till I have a talk with him. There's probably nothing to it."

He kissed her and left unhappily. From his own quarters he summoned the butler and told him to awaken him when his son came in, no matter what the hour might be.

Mr. Hayworth went to bed with a book, and was still reading at two in the morning when Dover knocked on his door.

"Anything wrong, Pop?" He stuck his head in the door.

"Come in," the father invited, laying down his book. "I wanted to have a little talk with you."

Dove grinned, yawning. "Aren't you keeping kind of late hours?"

He went over and sat on his father's bed. Dover, the third, was the apple of the older man's eye. He smiled affectionately, trying not to look worried.

"It's about the only hour I seem to be able to get you to sit in on a conference these days—since you've become radio head of the company."

"Yeah!" Dove grinned again. "My responsibilities do weigh pretty heavy. I'm doing a pretty swell job though, don't you think? Isn't that new pianist a honey?"

The father rubbed his chin, watching Dover closely.

"Well," he admitted, "she's a good piano player all right. But as for her being a honey, I guess you know more about that than I do."

Dove said, dropping his eyes boyishly:

"Oh, I get it! So you know?"

"Know what, son?"

"That Cholly and I have been going around together a lot. I—I'm sorry, Dad. I should have told you. But I was afraid."

"Afraid of what, Dover?" Mr. Hayworth's voice was calm. "Have I ever given you any occasion to be afraid of me? Why should you think there is anything you can't tell me? That you'd have to hide—"

Dove sighed, shaking his head.

"This is a peculiar situation, Pop." He stretched out on the bed beside the older man as if he meant to make a clean breast of something. "I'm glad to get it off my chest. I guess I did slip something over on you. But it just had to be. It's the only way I could help Cholly, and I was going crazy worrying about her."

The father reached for another pillow, put it under Dover's head, and arranged himself comfortably.

"Begin at the beginning, son." He took cigarettes from the table beside him, handing one to Dover.

Dove lit his cigarette silently. Then he began. It was difficult at first, but with his father nodding encouragement, or making a small comment, the task became easier. With glowing words, the young man painted a portrait of the girl he loved.

They had met, he told his father, on the yacht. He spoke of Romney and of Nelson and of the ride home in the moonlight when he had tried to lend Cholly money. She had a mother and seven brothers and sisters to support, but she had angrily refused his help.

Then, Dover confessed, he had fallen in love with her. Knowing how his mother would feel, and that his father, too, might be disappointed if he didn't make a brilliant marriage, he had fought for three months to keep from breaking down and letting Cholly know the way he felt.

The radio program was the only way he could think of to ease her burden. She was so little and proud and good. Dover related how he had gone to Bob Lane after getting his father's consent to a program, and how they had tricked Cholly into signing the contract.

"But you don't need to worry," Dover sat up finally, and his face was white and strained. "She won't marry me. She's turned me down flat! If you ask her to tear up the radio contract, she'll do it in a second. But for my sake—don't do it, Pop. Please!"

Today's Fashion

THE SHOPS are beginning to burgeon with distinguished trifles destined to bring chic and dash to spring clothes. First, of course, is a spring bonnet, and it is interesting to note that the snood is here again. Amber jersey softens the black felt derby. The ornament, shown in detail in a separate sketch, is of amber shell composition, a popular trim. The tailored one-button glove is of dooskin, trimmed with a tiny pleated ruffle. The belt is of deep, purple suede and has for its clasp a silver heart with a tender inscription, plus a separate lock and key. The silver humming bird is due to light on a smart jacket lapel. Long navy blue suede glove has pink scalloped trim from tip of second finger to top of glove.

gathering in the social room at 1:30 p. m.

The program included group singing and the lesson from the study book, after which games were played. The members passed some time sewing on their card mottoes.

Lunch was served at tables attractively decorated with Valentines. The affair was in charge of the leaders, Mrs. C. J. Martin, Mrs. Pearl Delong and Mrs. June Martindale, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Ramsey.

Business Women's Club
The regular session of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Morrison, East Main Street.

Preceding the business hour, the club members will attend the annual Brotherhood dinner of the Methodist Church.

Bob-Sled Ride
About 50 members of the Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church enjoyed a bob-sled ride through the streets of Circleville, recently, an informal party at the parish house being enjoyed later in the evening.

Ashville Garden Club
Mrs. Walter Hedges was elected treasurer of the Ashville Garden Club at its recent meeting, instead of Mrs. George Kuhn as announced.

An enjoyable feature of the evening's entertainment was the accordion solos played by Ada Lou Beckett.

Roast Pork Baked Beans
Canned Green Beans
Molded Vegetable Salad

French Apple Pie Coffee
BAKED BEANS—Ingredients: one pound dried navy beans, one-quarter pound salt pork, one can tomato soup, one-half cup catsup, one tablespoon molasses, one teaspoon dried mustard mixed with a little cold water.

Soak beans over-night in cold water to cover; pour water off, cover with fresh water and cook beans gently until the skins will roll up when you blow on a few in a spoon. You do not want to cook them to a mush. Put them in bean pot or crock, with water in which they were cooked, add mustard, catsup, tomato soup, molasses, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and mix thoroughly. Bury salt pork in center and bake in very slow oven, covered, for at least three or four hours.

French Apple Pie—Ingredients: three apples, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter or oleomargarine, one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one cup milk, two eggs, one-half teaspoon salt. Slice apples into deep baking dish, sprinkle with two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon; add one tablespoon boiling water, cover tightly and bake in moderate oven for 15 minutes. Make batter of other ingredients, creaming butter or substitute, then adding beaten yolks of eggs (saving whites for meringue), part of milk, then part of flour sifted with baking powder, alternating the milk and flour until all are used. Spread batter over cooked apples and bake until brown. Invert on pie tin, cover with meringue made from the whites of eggs, beaten stiff with two tablespoons confectioners' sugar, and set in slow oven to brown.

HALIBUT Creole—Place halibut steak in oiled shallow baking pan. Dot fish with butter; season with salt, pepper; sprinkle with finely-minced onion and green pepper. Cover with layer of dry bread crumbs. Bake in hot oven until vegetables are soft and beginning to brown.

Frozen Apricot Shortcake—Ingredients: one cup dried apricots, two and one-half cups water, one-third cup granulated sugar, one teaspoon granulated gelatin, one tablespoon cold water, one beaten egg, one-fourth cup granulated sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup whipping cream, sponge cake. Boil apricots in water until very soft, about 25 minutes; add sugar, allow to come to good boil, remove from fire and beat to pulp. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot apricots; cool. Beat egg very light, add sugar, vanilla and beat again. Whip cream and blend with egg. Arrange a layer of sponge cake, cut about one-fourth inch thick, in bottom of refrigerator pan, spread with apricots and cover with whipped mixture. Freeze, but not too hard. Cut in squares and serve with cream side up. Serves six.

NUGENT WOULD LET FAN PICK ALL-STAR TEAMS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Interest in the annual All-Star baseball game would be revived if the fans in major league cities were allowed to pick the players, in the opinion of Gerald P. Nugent, president of the Phillies.

Nugent is in favor of the proposal by Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, that the game be "given back to the baseball paying public."

Cage Games To Help Swell Fund Collected For New Band Suits

Circleville basketball fans will be given another opportunity to watch the speedy Red and Black varsity in action Tuesday evening when a game is played for benefit of the Band Uniform Fund with members of the alumni, boys who have worn the Red and Black in former years, providing the opposition.

The game will start at 9 o'clock following a contest between the Circleville Athletic Club and the Anchor-Hocking Glass team of Lancaster. This contest alone is enough attraction to fill the Club gymnasium. The Anchor-Hocking outfit boasts of numerous stars including Buck Lawrence, who played at Ohio U. a couple of years back.

The High School team is expected to be intact for the game although Harold Smith, one of Roy Black's aces, is suffering from an ouchy ankle that was hurt at Oak Hill just as the game ended. Smith was carried off the floor, but he may be ready to play. Coach Black expects to use him only a small part of the time, if he starts him at all, because the Greenfield game is on the schedule Friday and the Tiger mentor intends that his boys shall be at full strength against the South Central Ohio League champs.

All other members of the first squad are ready for action, although Paul Walters is slowed down considerably by a bad toe.

It is likely that Jimmy Callihan and Jim Carr will see plenty of action against the Alumni at the forward and center positions. If the varsity is able to gain a comfortable edge on the Alumni, it is possible that the second five comprised of Callihan, Valentine, Carr, Geib and Martin will get some experience during the evening.

The Alumni aggregation is expected to be a strong one, though, with John Jenkins, Warren Bumgarner, Chuck Styers, Junior Martin, Fred Grant, Don Jackson and several others expected to perform. It is possible that Don Henry, Dick Mader and Dave Jackson, all attending Ohio State, may don uniforms for the contest.

HEAVY WEEKEND RAINFALL ADDS TO DANGERS OF OHIO VALLEY FLOOD

PATROL FINDS ROADS UNSAFE IN SOME AREAS

Precipitation Total For Sunday Reaches .85 Of Inch Locally

SCIOTO CONTINUES RISE

Northern, Eastern Parts Of State Covered With Snow

Ohio Valley's spring thaw flood peril will be heightened as more rain and snow is predicted by the weather bureau to be added to the downpour that struck the state during the week end. The United States weather bureau reported that barring a sudden rise in temperature there is no immediate danger of high water.

Rain, sleet and snow, whipped by a 25-mile-an-hour wind, drenched Central Ohio Sunday and by nightfall the precipitation was one-half inch.

Hazardous driving conditions were reported by the State Highway Patrol throughout the state, while substations reported one to four inches of snow northward from Van Wert, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon, Newark, Zanesville, Cambridge and St. Clairsville. Steubenville was in the center of the worst of the storm.

Rainfall in Circleville Sunday totaled .85 of an inch. The temperature reached a maximum of 41 degrees and a minimum of 36 degrees.

River Rises Steadily

The Scioto River is three and one-half feet above normal and is showing a slight and steady rise. No danger is expected since most of the snow has melted and is moving out and the surrounding land is drying. More rain and snow may alter the present condition, but not seriously.

State Route 666 on the east bank of the Muskingum River was flooded when jammed ice forced the river over its banks north of Zanesville. It was listed as closed on Sunday by the State Highway Patrol which expected more high water reports.

Lawrence County creeks overflowed their banks with 15 inches of water covering a stretch of route 75, between Ironton and Jackson. Despite all the swollen streams weather observers said that the flood danger is lessened because most of the larger streams, including the Ohio, are free from ice jams.

Weather bureaus are not expecting any sudden temperature rises to bring on flood conditions as the heavy snows melt. Freezing temperatures are expected throughout most of the state.

WIEDOFT, RUDY VALLEE TEACHER, IS DEAD AT 46

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — Death today had overtaken Rudolph Wiedoft, 46, the patron saint of saxophone players and the man who gave Rudy Vallee his first lessons on the instrument. A musical pioneer, Wiedoft revived the then little-played saxophone 20 years ago and wrote numerous saxophone solos including "Saxophobia," a musical gospel of saxophones.

NANCY A. ALDENDERFER IS DEAD AT CEDAR HILL

Mrs. Nancy A. Aldenderfer, 89, widow of Amos Aldenderfer, died Sunday at 11:15 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Dora Spangler, Cedar Hill. Mrs. Aldenderfer's illness was lengthy.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Spangler at whose home she died, and Mrs. Laura Riegel of Cedar Hill; two sons, Arthur of Columbus and Joseph of Ashville, and two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Marion of Amanda and Mrs. Emma Myers of Grover, rt.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Dutch Hollow Lutheran Church, the Rev. J. H. Lutz officiating with burial in Amanda Township Cemetery by Crites and Van Cleve.

Mrs. Aldenderfer was a daughter of Joseph and Hannah Steward Christy.

BANDITS STAB AGED MAN

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — Eighty-year-old John McNeal, who was stabbed in the back by one of two bandits who robbed him of six dollars, was reported in good condition (in White Cross Hospital) today. Although hospital attaches feared his lung may have been punctured, the octogenarian's only complaint was that he "was a little lame in the back."

Little Old New York Well Liked

LITTLE Old New York was well received Sunday at the Grand Theatre where it had its initial Circleville showing. The picture boasting such stars as Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray, Richard Greene and Brenda Joyce plays through Tuesday.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Justice Department officials are probing to see whether there is another Harlan County labor intimidation case in Aberdeen, Washington, where Mrs. Richard Law, wife of a leader of the International Woodworkers of America, was found murdered. Various reports of vigilante tactics against labor have come from this Puget Sound section. . . . The man who will fill the key post of U. S. District Attorney in Southern Louisiana (if District Attorney Rene Viosca is made a judge) is Richard Montgomery, Jr., a very competent youngster. . . . Willie Bloff, the Hollywood labor czar, was not the only one caught in the federal income tax net when his case was investigated. Also investigated were Twentieth Century-Fox movie moguls Joe Schenk, Darryl Zanuck and Bill Goetz. . . . Henry Morgenthau, impatient with Los Angeles proceedings regarding these three men, has ordered their case to New York.

A. F. OF L. FIGHT

The story behind the near fist fight between Dan Tobin, head of the teamsters' union, and Big Bill Hutcheson, boss of the carpenters, at the Miami meeting of the AFL executive committee is that both boys had been in training for it since the last AFL convention at Cincinnati.

At that time Hutcheson, bitter anti-New Deal Republican, was put into a vacancy on the executive committee created by the forced retirement of First Vice President Frank Duffy, and instead of going to the bottom of the list as 15th vice president, the usual procedure, Big Bill's pals swung a deal giving him Duffy's No. 1 spot as "First Vice President."

As such he ranks next to AFL President Bill Green and nine notches above Dan Tobin, staunchest New Deal supporter on the executive board. To be superseded in this highhanded manner, especially by the Republican conservative Hutcheson, so enraged Tobin that he threatened to resign in protest. He even considered taking his 350,000 teamsters—one of the strongest unions—out of the AFL.

With this as a backdrop it is easy to understand why at Miami Green's introduction of Big Bill Hutcheson as "First Vice President" was like waving a red flag in Tobin's face. He leaped to his feet protesting that Hutcheson had no right to the title and urged that it be voted on.

"You're playing Democratic politics," shouted Hutcheson. "I'm not playing politics!" retorted Tobin. "This is the first time anybody ever got your seat without working his way up to it. I wouldn't be so proud of that if I were you."

"Well, I'm here whether you like it or not," barked Hutcheson. "Well, I don't like it," stormed Tobin. Suddenly both men rushed at each other. Tobin removed his glasses. But before any serious blows were struck the two belligerents were parted. Fortunately for A. F. of L. harmony, the incident happened at a private session of the Executive Committee.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Idaho's new Senator John Thomas, New Mexico's Senator Carl Hatch and Colorado's massive Senator Ed Johnson were all born in the sixth Kansas congressional district — one of the most arid parts of the state. . . . A folder being distributed to boost the presidential aspirations of Hanford MacNider, ex-Legion Commander, declares, "the candidate must have courage, honesty and experience"; then it cites the various war medals MacNider got.

NIGHT CLUB ON RT. 23 LEVELED AT $10,000 LOSS

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 19—Levelled to the ground by a blaze which started from an undetermined source, the Four Aces Night Club, three miles south of Chillicothe on U. S. 23, had its last fling as a "hot spot" Saturday night. The loss, estimated at $10,000, was not covered by insurance, Louis Ater, who operated the club with his brother Raymond, said.

It is thought that the fire started on the back porch near the kitchen quarters at about 7:30 p. m. Within an hour the structure 36 feet wide and 106 feet long was a pile of debris and sizzling embers. A $3,000 addition was built a year ago and previous remodeling cost $2,000. The estimated value of the equipment was set at $5,000.

Louis Ater had stopped at the club at about 6:30 to pick up the watchman and take him to Chillicothe. An hour later the flames broke out on the back porch where there is no electrical wiring which might have started the fire.

The club building fire was beyond any possibility of control when the Chillicothe fire department trucks arrived. Smaller structures behind the club building were saved from destruction by the firemen.

Raymond Ater, partner in the business, is vacationing in Florida.

Classification Decided For Corn And Soybeans; Cash To Be Offered

30 ATTEND CONFERENCE

Banquet To Be Conducted In Hotel; Three Speakers Already Assured

Additional plans were made Saturday at a committee meeting in the Farm Bureau Home for the Corn and Soybean Show to be conducted March 1 in Memorial Hall as a feature of Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week planned by the Chamber of Commerce. About 30 interested persons were present for the meeting.

Classes will include:

Corn: open pollinated, Reid yellow dent, clarence, Woodburn, white and any other variety, (10 ears to the entry); hybrid, two classes, yellow and white, eight prizes to be given.

There will be another class for corn in which a 40 ear sample of any variety of corn may be entered.

In the soybean division there will be two classes: Mandell and any other variety.

Ribbons will be presented in addition to cash prizes being lined up by the Chamber of Commerce. The Ralston-Purina Co. has agreed to present a trophy as a soybean sweepstakes prize.

Only samples grown in Pickaway County will be eligible for prizes in the corn and soybean competition.

Plans are being completed for the banquet to be conducted at 6:30 p. m. March 1 in the American Hotel "Hurricane", tickets to sell for 50 cents. The banquet will climax the Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week.

Three speakers have already been contacted to appear on the program, and others are being sought. They include Glenn McElroy of Irwin, president of the American Soybean Association; Prof. J. B. Park of the department of agronomy of Ohio State University, and Prof. A. W. McCuen of the department of agricultural engineering at the university. Their subjects will deal with soybean and corn growing.

Another meeting of persons arranging the Corn and Soybean Show will be held next Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Farm Bureau home.

GARNER CLASHES WITH PRESIDENT IN SOME STATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — In a third direct contest with President Roosevelt on the third term issue, Vice President John N. Garner today had decided to enter his name in the Oregon presidential primary.

Garner already has entered his name in the Wisconsin (April 2) and Illinois (April 9) primaries in which local Democrats entered slates of delegates pledged to a third term for the President. He will send his name into Oregon's May 17 contest within the next few days.

The Garner campaign in Oregon will be managed by General Charles H. Martin, former representative and former governor. Martin is one of the Far West's greatest characters, being a veteran of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine, Pekin, and Mexican expeditions, and the World War. Garnerites believe the vice president will win Oregon's 10 Democratic delegates under Martin's leadership.

Friends of Garner also expect him to win Wisconsin's 24-vote delegation from the Roosevelt third term forces, largely because there will be two Roosevelt slates in the contest. This conflict among third-termers in Wisconsin represents a battle between two factions of Democrats to control the state Democratic organization. In Illinois, the Garnerites are not so hopeful, but there they expect to win some down-state votes in the delegation of 58.

The Garner organization also expects to win California's 44 delegates, unless President Roosevelt comes out directly for a third term, unless the President declares himself, his name cannot be entered in that state's primary. Garner already has given his written consent to entering the primary that he carried in 1932.

Muhlenberg Twp. School News

1st and 2nd Grades

During the last week we have been centering our subjects around Valentine's day, including Music, Reading, Writing, and Art. Bobby Petee, Ollie Speakman, and Eramela Holbert were on the second grade Spelling Honor roll this week.

3rd and 4th Grades

The fourth grade Spelling honor roll pupils are as follows: Maxine Ankrom, Meril Ferguson, and Billy Wright.

Valentine Day there was no school and we gave our party and passed out our valentines on Thursday. Jerry Kindler was absent this day so Norma Jean Ankrom took his Valentines home to him.

The third grade spelling honor roll is as follows: Mary Corne, Joan Hilderbrand, Eugene Prushing, Maxine Smith, and Mary Sue Riser.

Friday was Music day. We had Tonette class in the music room after dinner.

5th and 6th Grades

The following pupils were on the Spelling honor roll this week in the fifth grade: Norma Jean Ankrom, Verna Mae Huffer, Sally Lee Brigner, Mary Jean Carpenter, Kenneth Holbert, and Maribelle Joy Smith.

We had twenty-three enrolled and only had three absentees during the week.

The sixth grade honor roll in spelling is as follows: Billy Ankrom, Billy Palmer, Carl Hilderbrand, Rosetta Buskirk, Nellie Mae Brigner, and Robert Corne.

Mary Jean Carpenter will give a talk on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" in chapel Thursday afternoon.

7th and 8th Grades

Tuesday night of last week a number of pupils attended church. This was school night at the church. Our chorus, directed by Mr. Weidinger, sang two numbers and James McKinney sang a vocal solo.

In English the seventh grade is planning to make a school newspaper. We are going to elect the editor and his staff of workers next week.

The following students are on the seventh grade spelling honor roll: William Corne, Florence Brigner, Fred Hinton, Willard Robinson, Elizabeth Morgan, Mary Jane Willoughby, Marvane Swank, Irvin Brigner, Willis Neff, Wanda Brigner, Faith Grabill and James McKinney.

In Physical Education we have started a posture contest from the third grade to the eighth grade. Out interest has been aroused considerable due to the fact, that each day we walk, sit, and stand correctly throughout the day we receive a gold star. Each room has chosen their Captains for their teams. At the end of two weeks the team that has the most stars is the winner. Captains are Billy Wright, Glenn Messmore, Mary Sniff, Billy Palmer, Mary Jane Willoughby and Betty Corne.

Plans are being made for a school carnival and an Amateur night to be conducted in our school about the first week in March. Watch for more details in the school news next week.

There was no school Wednesday due to the weather conditions therefore our Valentine party was held on Thursday afternoon. Irvin Brigner favored the group with two harmonic solos and a quartet sang a group of popular songs which was very pleasing to the students. The quartet consisted of Ida Buskirk, Wanda Brigner, Betty Smith and Delores Huffer.

Marvane Swank accompanied them at the piano. Betty Smith sang a solo and did a tap dance for us. After the program a number of games were played, which proved to be the height of the program. Following this our teacher treated us with jello, cake, and a large cady Valentine with our names printed on each one. We enjoyed the party very much.

Thursday afternoon February 22, we are having a chapel program in the auditorium in honor of Washington's birthday. The Rev. Robert Lawrence will be the speaker. The program is as follows:

Song School Invocation Rev. R. Lawrence Song 1st and 2nd Grades Poem Billy Wright Talk Mary Jean Carpenter Trumpet Duet Billy Wright and Lola Reedy Life of Washington Rev. Robert Lawrence

Song School The public is cordially invited. Admission free.

The following pupils are on the Spelling honor roll in the eighth grade: Donald Corne, Betty Corne, Betty Smith, Delores Huffer, and Julia Speakman.

In English both grades have visited the library and each student has chosen a book to make a report on in the next three weeks. Classes were started in Industrial arts for the upper grade boys, with Mr. Weidinger as their instructor, and in Home Economics for the upper grade girls with Miss Hogan teaching.

Every Tuesday and Thursday from 12:30 until 1:00 p. m. Mr. Weidinger is conducting classes in tap dancing. We have thirty-four students enrolled in this class which is proving to be very interesting, amusing, and educational.

WIDOW OF NOAH WEAVER DIES IN ARLINGTON HOME

Mrs. Minnie E. Weaver, 71, widow of Noah E. Weaver and a resident of Circleville until eight years ago, died Sunday at 4 p. m. at her home in Upper Arlington after an illness of several months following an infection resulting from a fall several years ago.

Mrs. Weaver removed to Columbus after the death of her husband.

She was born in Tarlton April 8, 1867, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mowery. She spent her early life in that community where she became a music teacher, and in 1890 she married Noah E. Weaver of Thatcher.

Surviving are three children, Nellie, wife of Dr. Anson Brown of Columbus, and Fred and Lloyd Weaver of the home; two grandchildren, Donna Lee and Rita Jean Brown of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Ralph Long of Circleville, and three brothers, Arlo Mowery, a patient in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Dayton; Lee of Cleveland and Dill of Cambridge. Mrs. Weaver also mothered a nephew, Robert Long, whom she had reared since babyhood.

Mrs. Weaver was a past matron of the Circleville Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and a member of the Circleville First Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Schoedinger and Co. Funeral Home, Columbus, with burial to be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

COAT FOUND IN LOOT IDENTIFIED BY STORE

C. H. Padden, of the West Virginia Highway Patrol, has located the owner of the black coat that was found among the loot when six alleged shoplifters were caught in Circleville last Saturday night.

The coat belongs to the Beckley Department Store of Beckley, West Virginia and the manager of the store could recognize from photographs only L. T. Cade as one of the persons who had visited the store. Earlier this week, Jack Stevens, driver for the ring, said that Miss Cade was not implicated with the gang in any way, but she was a passenger who had been picked up and was being taken to Detroit as a favor.

STUDENT AT LAW SCHOOL FOUND DEAD IN QUARRY

McCOOK, Ill., Feb. 19—Authorities advanced a theory of accidental death today for 17-year-old George Zeiss, a pre-law student at Herzi Junior College, whose nude body was found in a stone quarry in McCook yesterday.

Zeiss' feet were badly scarred and cut, indicating the youth had walked some distance over the rough stones in the quarry. An autopsy revealed no signs of violence, and coroner's office investigators gave the opinion the youth, derailed by a recent illness, had wandered into the quarry and then had not been able to find his way out, succumbing to exhaustion and exposure.

SUSPECT IN BAD CHECK CASE GOES TO INDIANA

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 19—A request has been lodged with Chief of Police Russell Poole by the Indiana Prison authorities through F. D. Hope, superintendent of paroles, that Jerry O'Neal, 24, arrested last week for passing bad checks, be turned over to them.

O'Neal, Hope said, violated his parole from an Indiana prison and also is wanted on bad-check and theft charges. Poole said O'Neal would be held for Indiana.

Empire Putting Pressure

'Prison' Steamer

LONDON, Feb. 19—Germany's threat to avenge the liberation of 326 British prisoners of war from the 'hell ship' Altmark in Norwegian waters had its first result today when the 1,375-ton British destroyer Daring was torpedoed and sunk with an apparent loss of 157 lives.

Loss of the Daring was announced as the British government brought heavy pressure to bear on Germany to intern the Altmark and the surviving members of its crew for duration of the war.

Officials said that nine officers and 148 ratings were missing and feared to have been lost when the Daring was sent to the bottom.

The admiralty communique announcing the loss stated:

"The secretary of admiralty regrets to announce that the destroyer Daring, under Commander S. A. Cooper, has been torpedoed and sunk.

"One officer and four ratings have been picked up. Nine officers and 148 ratings are missing and feared to have been lost. Their next of kin have been informed."

(The Daring was one of eight destroyers of the Defender class. It carried a normal complement of 145 men, to which war-time reserves had been added. The vessel, capable of a speed of 36 knots, was armed with four 4.7 inch guns, six smaller weapons and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes. The destroyer was completed late in 1932.)

Two Freighters Taken

Loss of the Daring was announced shortly after the admiralty revealed that two German freighters had been captured by the allied naval forces.

A British warship brought to a westerly port the captured German steamer Morea, a 1,927-ton vessel, which was carrying a 3,000-ton cargo of manganese. Its crew of 30 officers and men was interned.

Another announcement said the French navy had captured the German freighter Rostock, 2,542 tons, which had been accompanying the Morea.

A German seaman from the Morea said:

"We were exasperated after idling in a Spanish port since the war began. We decided to risk our luck and race home."

The Morea steamed out to sea, he related, under cover of a storm, but clearing skies betrayed it to a warship which placed a prize crew

Berlin Cites Destroyer's Sinking
As First Act of Revenge for Loss
Of 326 British Prisoners of War

BERLIN, Feb. 19—German newspapers today hailed the torpedoing of the British destroyer Daring as proof of the Reich's determination to avenge the allegedly "criminal" boarding of the German steamer Altmark in a Norwegian fjord.

At the same time, the prediction was voiced that Norway will bluntly reject Britain's demand that the Altmark and her crew be interned for duration of the war.

So far as the incident itself was concerned, German press and officialdom kept up a drum-fire of criticism, giving wide prominence to a charge by the Altmark's captain that sailors from the British destroyer Cossack who boarded his vessel "looted" his quarters and those of his officers before quitting the ship with 326 British prisoners of war.

"On all sides, threats of dire revenge on England for her outright violation of international law in entering Norwegian territorial waters were heard, but there was no official indication of the nature of these reprisals.

Continued pressure was brought to bear on all neutral nations, with particular stress on Norway for the failure of any action by Norwegian gunboats stationed in Josing Fjord, scene of one of the most dramatic incidents of the war.

The Altmark incident, it was learned, may have an important bearing on the scheduled visit to Berlin of United States Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles.

The German government may hand him a dossier citing the Altmark case in a general indictment of British methods of warfare and an attempted refutation of London's claim that the British are fighting a humanitarian war "for

Ice Plant Employee Taken
To Hospital Suffering
From Leg Fractures

With both legs broken below the knees in a mishap in the Eagles' Home, Sunday afternoon, William Eblin, widely known employee of the Circleville Ice Co., was a patient Monday in Berger Hospital.

Mr. Eblin was trapped when a metal case weighing approximately 400 pounds fell on him. The injured man saw the case falling and started to back away, but he fell backwards, the case landing on the lower part of his body. He was taken to Berger Hospital in the Mader Service ambulance and placed under the care of Dr. H. D. Jackson.

The fractures are serious, Dr. Jackson said, both being compound and comminuted, that is, the bones broken in numerous places.

Mr. Eblin lives in the property adjoining the ice plant on the Island Road.

FORMER G. O. P.
GOVERNOR HITS
SCHORR POLICY

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19—Republican party leaders today studied the significance of a letter from former Gov. Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, to G.O.P. Chairman Ed D. Schorr, criticizing him for asking party chieftains to express their preferences among candidates for the U. S. senatorial nomination.

Davis, former mayor of Cleveland, intimated that Schorr was interfering with the open primary system when he attempted to single out candidates before the primary.

Schorr's poll indicated that sentiment of G.O.P. leaders was with Congressman Dudley A. White, of Norwalk, who is being opposed for the nomination by Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland.

Louis J. Taber, National Grange master, was expected to announce his entry in the same race this week in a speech at Martins Ferry. Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ironton, may enter the contest, too.

"The procedure you advocate contemplates a process of elimination of candidates for these offices by requesting a withdrawal of those not favored among the necessarily limited few Ohio Republicans asked by you to express themselves," Davis wrote to Schorr.

"The previous convention method of nominating party candidates was duly abolished by the people of this commonwealth in their progressive purpose to vest in themselves exclusively the power of choosing their public officials."

OSLO, Norway—Angered by British violation of Norwegian territorial waters in the Altmark incident, C. J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, warned today that Norway may halt its commerce with England. Hambro branded the incident as the "most flagrant violation of neutral territory of the war."

TOKYO—The Japanese government has no intention whatever of making peace with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, it was announced by an official spokesman today coincident with denial of Chinese military advances in Kwangsi province.

LONDON—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today claimed that Danish anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on a German military plane flying over Danish territory in South Sleswig, near the German frontier. The Nazi plane was driven off, the dispatch said, but apparently was not hit by the Danish fire.

TOKYO—A new warning to the United States to relax pressure against Japan was voiced today by a Tokyo foreign office spokesman. As a result of the failure of the United States to renew the abrogated Japanese-American trade pact, "the Japanese attitude toward the United States is stiffening," the spokesman said.

OTHER KILLS TWO

ELKTON, Md., Feb. 19—Tying up all three north-south tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad's New York - Philadelphia - Baltimore-Washington service, 12 cars of an 87-car freight were derailed today a mile north of Elkton.

No one was injured and the cause of the wreck was not immediately determined. While wrecking crews from Wilmington, Del., and Baltimore repaired the damage, through trains were rerouted over tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19—Two Harrisburg railroad men were killed today in the East Altoona yards of the Pennsylvania railroad when a pusher locomotive crushed the cabin car in which they were riding.

H. C. Shutt, the conductor, was dead when removed from the wreckage, and S. E. Deaner, the brakeman, died enroute to the Altoona hospital.

Western Front; Parisian
Papers Bitter

PARIS, Feb. 19—A battle in No Man's Land in which French troops suffered casualties was admitted by the French high command today in War Communiqué No. 337, detailing latest activities on the Western Front.

"During the night east of the Nied River," the bulletin said, "our detachments suffered some losses when they stumbled into an ambush.

"On the Rhine River sector there was firing from artillery casemates on each side."

At the same time it was revealed that for the first time since hostilities began the Germans opened up concentrated howitzer fire on a single French outpost a few kilometers east of the Moselle River.

Afterwards the Nazis tried to capture the outpost, using a company of infantry in their aid.

The shelling failed to destroy the French outpost, however, and devastating French retaliatory artillery fire completely checked the German attempt to capture the position.

German losses were not known, but it was believed that the

SEN. TAFT URGES
"WORKING PLAN"
OF COOPERATION

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Feb. 19—Fully indorsing Republican program committee proposals, Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, today urged that his party adopt a "working plan" of cooperation with industry and agriculture for its 1940 platform.

Senator Taft, aspirant to the G. O. P. presidential nomination, called for government aid "instead of regulation" for industry in a Swarthmore College address. He charged that the Roosevelt administration "has failed to do what it promised, and has added $22,000,000,000 to the national debt."

"There are still plenty of frontiers today in industry, chemistry and development of new products and industries," asserted Senator Taft. "If America is only given a chance, we can return to a condition where people will have better income than ever before."

Advocating a five-point program to replace the New Deal's "inflationary" policies, the Ohio lawmaker suggested "reducing surtaxes in the highest brackets to 50 percent."

McKellar Of Tennessee May Introduce Bill
To End Relations; King Of Utah Pledges
Aid In Bitter Tirade On Russians

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Formal introduction in the senate of two measures striking at Soviet Russia was seriously considered today by one of the veteran legislators in congress—Senator Kenneth McKellar (D) Tennessee.

Another Democratic veteran, Senator King of Utah, immediately promised his support for either move.

McKellar studied, first, chances for adoption of a resolution breaking off U. S.-Soviet diplomatic relations, a step for the present opposed by the Roosevelt administration.

Secondly, the Tennessean considered a fight to cut out of the pending State Department supply bill all funds for maintaining the American embassy in Moscow. This step would be less direct but almost as drastic as severance of relations. Proposed in the house recently by Rep. McCormack (D) Massachusetts, it was defeated by only three votes.

Apprised of McKellar's actions, Senator King said bluntly:

"Personally, I'd like to see us discontinue relations with Russia, a country that has no honor, no respect for treaties and avows she seeks to set up the doctrine of Communism in every country on earth."

"I would support moves in this direction; the sooner we have nothing to do with Russia the better."

TRIO IN DENIAL OF HUNTSVILLE
DEATH CHARGES

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 19—The three defendants jointly indicted for the hammer slaying February 1 of Fred Jenkins, 51-year-old railroad telegrapher, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned on the first degree murder charge. They were held without bond pending trial.

Counsel for the defense waived trial by jury for Jenkins' widow, Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, 47, and the son, Merlin Jenkins, 18, who will be tried March 19 and 20, respectively. Donald Slater, 18, who reportedly told authorities he killed Jenkins because of the telegrapher's treatment of his family, will come up for trial March 18.

Jenkins' body was found at Huntsville, in Montgomery County, 75 miles from his Huntsville home.

OLDEST DOCTOR
IN NATION DIES
NEAR BATAVIA, O.

BATAVIA, O., Feb. 19—Recognized as the oldest practicing physician in the United States, Dr. William Eberle Thompson, 104, died early today at his home in nearby Bethel. He had practiced in Bethel for 77 years.

Affectionately known as "Old Doc" to his friends and neighbors, Dr. Thompson was graduated from the University of Cincinnati Medical school in 1880. He enlisted as a surgeon in the Union Army in the Civil War. When illness necessitated his retirement from the armed forces he returned to Bethel to practice.

A staunch member of the Republican party since its inception, Thompson often recalled voting twice for Abraham Lincoln. He claimed to have had a personal acquaintance with General U. S. Grant.

He was born in Bethel in 1835 and because of his long stay in Bethel became an authority on Southern Ohio history, especially during the Civil War period.

Although much was written about him, Dr. Thompson simply dismissed the accolades with "I seem to have fared pretty well."

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Winifred Davis, and a granddaughter, Mrs. L. Eastwood, both of Bethel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Emphatically refusing to become a stalking horse for renomination of President Roosevelt, Senator Vic Donahey (D) Ohio, today rejected the proposal of Ohio Democratic leaders that the senator become a "favorite son" candidate for the presidency.

Asserting acceptance of the proposal "would be subterfuge," Donahey said that he has repeatedly opposed "the emasculation of the primary act by those political leaders who would hark back to the 'good old days.'"

The senator's announcement immediately raised the possibility of Vice President Garner filing in

MADER ATTENDS
CONFAB OF DEM
PARTY CHAIRMEN

John F. Mader, chairman of the Pickaway County Democratic executive committee, attended a meeting in Columbus Sunday of chairmen of Ohio executive committees. A report was made to the chairmen of the action of the state central and executive committees which met Saturday in Columbus.

Mr. Mader said that all districts would soon name delegates and alternates to the National Convention to be held in Chicago.

The chairman declared that Charles Sawyer, who bowed out of the "possible candidate" picture Saturday, was highly commended by the county chairmen and that Senator Vic Donahey and Ex-Governor Martin L. Davey remained as the doubtful figures in the picture.

He declared that Ohio delegates would do their utmost to have President Roosevelt accept nomination for another term of office.

"These major problems," Mr. Mader said, "will be left for the state committees to decide, this being part of their business."

SCARLETT'S HUBBY WINS
LONDON DIVORCE DECREE

LONDON, Feb. 19—Herbert Leigh Holman today was granted a divorce from Vivien Leigh, star of "Gone With The Wind," on charges that the tempestuous "Scarlett O'Hara" was guilty of misconduct with the Film Actor Laurence Olivier.

The case was undefended and it was expected that custody of the couple's daughter, Suzanne, six, would go to Holman. They were married in 1933.

Holman, a London barrister, filed suit in the proceedings January 5. Laurence Olivier, named as co-respondent, was divorced recently by his wife, Jill Eamond, an English actress. At present he is in the United States.

HELSEINKI, Feb. 19 — Russian pressure against the hard-pressed Finnish Mannerheim Line relaxed on the Carelian Isthmus today as it was revealed that Finland's commander-in-chief, Baron Karl Mannerheim, has ordered a strategic retreat from the first line defenses throughout the entire Isthmus.

Dispatches stated that the withdrawal had been carried out "magnificently" by the Finnish defenders and that the lives of many soldiers were thus saved.

The Finnish front lines are now established in new, undamaged positions, stronger than those advanced lines they formerly held.

Rest Provided

In addition, authorities said, the decrease in the strength of the Russian attacks will give the Finnish troops an opportunity to obtain a little much-needed rest.

As noon passed with no great Russian pressure against the new Finnish lines on the Isthmus, it began to appear as if the Russians also needed a rest after their tremendous series of attacks which lasted nearly three weeks.

But it was reported from Leningrad via Copenhagen that Soviet War Commissar Klement Voroshilov had ordered the capture of Viborg "at all costs" before February 23, the anniversary of the founding of the Red army.

Meanwhile, Finnish authorities and the public still believed optimistically that Finland will receive additional aid from abroad in her hour of need.

Believe Help Coming

"Help can still save us, and we believe that it is coming," were the words heard everywhere in Helsinki today.

Meager reports from the northern Kuhnmo sector of Finland's eastern frontier appeared to indicate that a major Finnish victory is developing there.

These reports said the Russians have lost 3,000 men on that sector in a series of bitter battles as well as much war material which is now being rushed to the Isthmus to buttress the Finnish defenses there.

(The Rome radio quoted a dispatch from Stockholm stating the Finns routed two Soviet divisions on the Kuhnmo sector, according to Reuters news agency.)

All over Finland yesterday the Russians carried out a large number of air raids. Several trains were attacked with bombs and machine guns and one was gutted by fire. Many civilians were reported killed and wounded.

Minor Convicts Pardoned

To provide more men for action at the front, President Kyyosti Kallio pardoned all convicts serving terms of one year or less.

Along with the cessation of Russian activity against the Mannerheim Line, there were multiplying reports of assaults by the Finnish air force against the Russian front lines, troop concentrations to the rear and supply lines leading back to major Soviet bases.

The Finnish air force, growing in strength, is now said to be capable of hampering the Russian forces on the Isthmus to a major degree.

In the battle zone just north of Lake Ladoga the Finns also successfully defeated Russian troops, killing an asserted 700.

Forty-five persons were reported killed in yesterday's Russian air raids throughout southern Finland, but Helsinki authorities claimed that 37 Soviet planes had been shot down.

Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer, who underwent a minor operation at Grant Hospital, Columbus, recently, was removed to her home in Tarlton Sunday. She is making a good recovery.

W. H. Bosworth of 537 East Franklin Street underwent a major operation Saturday at the C & O Hospital, Huntington, W. Va. He is doing as well as can be expected.

COURT LETS MAE SUE MDIVANI FOR SUPPORT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19—Winning the first step in her campaign to regain possession of their 13-year-old son, Mae Murray, star of the silent screen, today had court permission to sue her former husband, Prince David Mdivani, for support.

Recently a New York court refused to force Bessie Canning of Albany, who has been keeping the boy, Koran David Mdivani, to turn him over to his mother until a suitable home existed.

Miss Murray is seeking $1,000 a month from the prince to establish and maintain a home. Mdivani's attorneys contend their client settled all financial obligations to his wife when they were divorced in 1933.

Apparently the crew made no attempt to scuttle the Morea. At the same time, the government awaited a reply from Oslo to a complaint lodged by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax against the failure of Norway to establish the presence of British prisoners aboard the Altmark while it was at Bergen.

Lord Halifax lodged the British complaint in a talk with the Norwegian minister, Erik Colban, when the latter called at the foreign office to deliver his government's "serious protest" against "gross violation" of Norway's rights when the British cruiser Cossack invaded Norwegian waters and rescued British seamen from the Altmark.

DONAHEY TURNS DOWN DEM PLAN

key not to file in states having favorite son candidates, but his supporters said that he would probably file in Ohio now that Donahey has withdrawn.

At the suggestion of Donahey, Ohio's Democratic state central and executive committees, met last week to reach a decision on who the Ohio delegation would support for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Ohio leaders decided their delegation should support President Roosevelt for a third term in event he sought re-nomination.

However, in the absence of any written consent from President Roosevelt (a requirement under Ohio law for the filing of a slate of instructed delegates) the Ohio leaders proposed that Donahey consent to become a "favorite son candidate" to tie up the Ohio delegation for Mr. Roosevelt.

FRANCE ADMITS LOSS IN AMBUSH

Renewed Activity Noted On Western Front; Parisian Papers Bitter

French captured several wounded German soldiers.

A war ministry spokesman said that according to preliminary reports, about 20 French soldiers were killed by the German ambush, adding that this was an "important number in relation to the size of the patrol."

He added that the German infantry at the front is daily taking the initiative and increasing the numbers of its patrols, reconnaissance expeditions and raids as winter begins to break.

Four German reconnaissance planes flew over eastern France, but no aerial battles developed.

Radio working parties led the exchanges along the Rhine, while west of the Saar there were several brief clashes between French and German patrols.

Meanwhile the French press continued to criticize Sweden for not helping the Finns and also attacked Norway for its part in the Altmark incident.

The newspaper Ouvre commented: "Sweden and Norway are maintaining an unglorious attitude before shortly playing the role of unhappy countries. If neutrals abandon neutrality because Germany makes a noise, they must expect that we will reply with quiet force."

Le Journal added: "It must be admitted that Norway, by her control of the Altmark, became Germany's accomplice."

Charges also were aired that Norwegian territorial waters have become Germany's sea route for gasoline and iron.

MRS. SARAH FETHEROLF DIES NEAR LAURELVILLE

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Fetherolf, 74, widow of Jefferson Fetherolf, died Sunday at 9 p. m. at her home near Laurelville. She was a daughter of William and Sarah Kennedy, both natives of Ireland.

Surviving are the following children, Pearl, Fred, Arthur and Gordon Fetherolf and Mrs. Susie Fegh. The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Mt. Carmel Church, the Rev. S. C. Elsea officiating with burial in the adjoining cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh and Sons.

OHIO U. HAS LARGEST SEMESTER ENROLLMENT

ATHENS, Feb. 19—The largest second semester enrollment in the history of Ohio University was announced today by Dr. Frank B. Dilley, Registrar.

The 3,210 students enrolled for the second semester are in classes on the campus and this figure does not include registration in Ohio University's Zanesville and Portsmouth divisions.

The usual drop from the fall semester figures was not as noticeable this year as the full time semester enrollment was 3,307. The drop from the fall semester figures was less than 100 students.

The fall semester enrollment including the Zanesville and Portsmouth division figures was 3,561.

WOMAN NABBED FOR MURDERING TEXAS AUTOIST

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 19 —A 24-year-old gun-toting woman bandit was held for grand jury action today on murder charges after police said she confessed the torture and murder of J. P. Calloway, a Houston, Texas, salesman who had given her and a male companion a ride in his car.

The woman, Mrs. Claude D. Henry, was quoted by Sheriff Henry A. Reed as relating that she and her companion, whom she termed "a yellow rat" but refused to name, had been picked up by Calloway near Vinton, La., and had ridden with him through Lake Charles before the woman shot him.

Coroner E. L. Clements said Calloway had been inhumanly tortured. His body bore marks of a pair of pliers, and he had been forced to ride cramped in the small rear compartment of the car for many miles in freezing temperatures, the coroner said.

NIGHT CLUB SINGER, 19, STILL OBJECT OF HUNT

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Donna Manning, 19, a New York night club singer, was still among the missing today.

The girl has not been seen since last Tuesday when she left a hotel suite she occupied with her mother, Mrs. Fay Hochreich who in silent film days was an actress known as Fay Steuben, according to the police.

Mrs. Hochreich said she was certain no men were involved in the girl's disappearance. She said Donna had great hopes of sharing in a $65,000,000 anti-trust suit her father, David Hochreich, of Providence, R. I., has instituted but that a lawyer advised them recently their share would be negligible if the suit was successful.

AUDITORS CHECK SCHOOL BOOKS IN FUND CHANGE

Examiners from the State Bureau of Accounting and the examiner of the Bureau of Inspection for Public Offices are checking ledgers presented by Fred Mitchell, clerk of the Monroe Township Board of Education, to arrive at a correct figure of the unexpended balance of the Muhlenberg Township Board of Education funds which Monroe was ordered by Common Pleas Court to return.

Approximately $5,000 was taken by the Monroe board from Muhlenberg when the school system was transferred to Monroe last fall. Following much litigation and a reversal of the Common Pleas Court decision by the Court of Appeals, jurisdiction of the schools was given back to Muhlenberg and Judge Meeker Terwilliger ordered the unexpended Muhlenberg funds be returned.

Lloyd White, clerk of the Muhlenberg board, and Fred Mitchell met with Judge Terwilliger Saturday at which time Monroe was to return to Muhlenberg $2,300 of the bond retirement fund and $800 of the general fund, the latter figure to be used by Muhlenberg to pay its current school expenses and salaries.

An exact determination of the balance will be available when the examiners have completed inspection of the accounts presented.

The Monroe school board in conjunction with the Pickaway County Board has filed an appeal with the Supreme Court to get an opinion on the legality of such school transfers which the Court of Appeals held was illegal.

FOUR BOUTS ON LIST IN MONDAY EVENING SHOW

Four boxing bouts featuring Circleville and Columbus youths will be staged Monday at 8:15 p. m. in the Stone's Grill gymnasium with Norman Aronson as the promoter.

The Hildifter will pit Roy Birchwell, 150, against Patsy Ryan of Columbus, the latter winning last week from Birchwell.

Dempsey Patrick, fighting at 143 pounds, will take on Bob Williams of Columbus in the second contest, and Homer Patrick, 140, will be pitted against Danny Wilson, Columbus, in the third.

The wind-up will bring a new Circleville pug into the ring in the person of John Griffith, who will fight Jimmy Jones at 175 pounds.

The card promises to be interesting and a large crowd is expected.

BURGLARY TRIAL DATE SET TENTATIVELY FEB. 28

The trial of Melvin Azbell, 19, indicted by the grand jury on charges of burglary and larceny, has tentatively been set to be presented to the jury Wednesday, February 29. Harry Margulis, Asheville attorney, has been appointed by Common Pleas Judge Meeker Terwilliger to defend Azbell.

Azbell was allegedly caught with Bernard Fetherolf and Jack Austin who were indicted on similar charges. The latter two entered pleas of guilty at the arraignment and were sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for from one to 15 years. Azbell pleaded not guilty.

DEATH OF U. ARLINGTON YOUTH TERMED ACCIDENT

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — A verdict of accidental death was returned today in the hanging death of 16-year-old Wendel Dean Postle, Jr., son of the dean of Ohio State University's dental school, whose body was found hanging from a rafter in the basement of the Postle home.

The high school athlete had witnessed a movie wherein a man had escaped hanging by his fingertips touching a window sill, Coroner Edward E. Smith said. The boy apparently tried the experiment on his arrival home with fatal results, Dr. Smith theorized.

The Postle youth played basketball two weeks ago against the Circleville reserve team, acting as captain of the Upper Arlington

VIC TO INFORM OHIO DEMOCRATS OF HIS POLICY

Whether Donahey Will Be Nominal 'Favorite' Son Is Uncertain

PARTY PLAN IN BALANCE

Some Believe Senator May Turn Down Committee's Suggestion

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — Democrats of Ohio looked to Washington today for an answer to the question whether harmony will prevail in their ranks as the July 15 Chicago national convention date approaches.

In the vest-pocket of U. S. Senator Vic Donahey in Washington reposed that answer. Sometime during the day he had promised to give it to anxious Democratic leaders in his home state.

The statement should clear up whether Donahey will permit his name to be used in the May 14 presidential preference primary as the nominal "favorite son" candidate. Opinion was about evenly divided on what his answer would be.

Bowing to the wishes of his party's central and executive state committees, as expressed in a joint meeting in Columbus Saturday, would mean for Donahey receding from his previously expressed opposition to running in the Ohio primary as a "stalking horse" for President Roosevelt.

Would Upset Plans

On the other hand, refusal to do so would mean upsetting the wishes of a "harmony meeting" of representative Democrats called at Donahey's own suggestion to decide upon policies governing the selection of national convention delegates.

As adopted Saturday with only one dissenting voice — that of Donahey's son-in-law, James W. Huffman — the policy resolution calls upon Ohio's 52 delegates to vote for re-nomination of President Roosevelt unless and until he makes it clear that he is not a candidate.

Those are their instructions even though Donahey, the nominal "favorite son" candidate, should decide in the meantime that he personally favors Vice President John Garner or some other aspirant, and the senator's actions in Washington have never implied that he is enthusiastic about a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

The resolution clearly tied Donahey's hands if he choose to become the "favorite son" candidate. In view of that and his widely-known independence, a sizeable group of political observers expected him to decline the honor.

Might Be Expedient

The others felt that the senator might find it politically expedient to accept, despite his personal feelings, because of the overwhelming sentiment among Ohio Democratic committeemen in favor of a third term for the president. This sentiment was demonstrated conclusively in the vote on the pro-Roosevelt resolution Saturday.

In support of their belief that he would accept, the latter group of observers cited that Donahey must be a candidate for reelection this year if he wishes to remain in the Senate. To publicly rebuke party spokesmen in his home state under such circumstances, they reasoned, would not be something that even Donahey, with his acknowledged vote-gathering ability, would not relish undertaking.

There was criticism of Donahey and his attitude of independence at the meeting Saturday. It came from J. Fuller Trump, committeeman from the senator's own congressional district, the seventh. And it was bitter, even though limited in expression to a single committee member.

Trump refused to vote for Donahey for "favorite son," asserting that the senator had seen fit to place himself above the party, had forgotten those who helped him get elected, and had completely ignored any county organization "in his insistent effort to build for Donahey alone."

But for the importance of the Donahey episode, the attitude of Ex-Gov. Martin L. Davey in

Congress May Postpone Action on Relief Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Congressional action on relief appropriations has been postponed at the request of the administration, which wishes to study further—and perhaps revise upwards — budget estimates made by President Roosevelt in January, it was learned today.

Rep. Clifton Woodrum (D) Virginia, in charge of relief appropriations in the house, disclosed that the relief bill probably will not be

COUNTIANS MAY OBTAIN 1940 CROP, FEED LOANS

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1940 are now available to farmers in Pickaway County, and applications for these loans are now being received at County Agent's office by Clarence Realty, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing and cultivating his 1940 crops or in purchasing or producing feed for his livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed or, in the case of loans for the purchase or production of feed for livestock, a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

failing to follow the lead of Charles Sawyer, would have received considerably more attention that it did after the week end Democratic meeting.

Sawyer dealt himself out of the 1940 gubernatorial primary in the hope that a candidate unscarred by fractional strife could be nominated with some hope of being elected. But Davey, reached in a Chicago suburb where he was visiting, declined to follow suit, at least for the time being.

Would Oppose Davey

Sawyer defeated Davey for re-nomination two years ago. Even with him out of the running now, his aides did not attempt to conceal that would oppose vigorously any attempt by Davey to recapture the governorship. Davey was reported to be still considering a try for U. S. senator and fairly certain to become a candidate if Donahey does not ask re-election.

Possibly of more significance to the Democrats in the forthcoming campaign than they at first realized was the recognition of the Ray T. Miller faction as the legal Democratic group in Cuyahoga County and the rejection of the leadership claims of W. Burr Gongwer.

Hotly resentful of his ouster by the state central committee after nearly 40 years of Democratic leadership in the most populous county, Gongwer served notice that a fierce battle will be waged in the May 14 primary to elect enough of his own county committee members to oust Miller.

Whether Gongwer succeeds or fails, continuance of the party strife seemed inescapable in a county where the Democrats may sorely need unity in the next election.

FILM STAR SCHEDULED

Margaret Lindsay, top-ranking film star is en route to New York from Hollywood to headline the George Jessel "Celebrity Program" over the NBC-Red network Thursday, February 22 at 8 p. m. She will take part in a special sketch with Jessel and Singer Benay Venuta. Another personality will be Dave Irwin, author and explorer, who had the Eskimo Village at the World's Fair last season. Music is under the baton of Peter Van Steeden.

KOSTELANETZ PROGRAM

Perhaps one of the most requested arrangements he has yet presented on the air will be offered again by Andre Kostelanetz on his "Tune-Up Time" program over CBS Monday, February 26 at 8 p. m., when his 45-piece orchestra plays "The Happy Farmer" by Schumann. Kostelanetz will also feature Cole Porter's "I've Got My Eyes on You" and a choral arrangement of "Finlandia" (O, Singing Land) by Sibelius.

"CHURCH MOUSE" AIRED

Louis Calhern will support Ruth Gordon on the Star Theatre Wednesday, February 21, 9 p. m. over CBS, when "Churchmouse" is dramatized. "Churchmouse" is the story of Susie Sachs, an underfed steno, who lands a secretarial job with a Viennese banker. She changes from office to evening clothes, lands the banker as a husband, and grabs herself a title all at one blow. On the Hollywood end of the show, Ken Murray will appear in another "Murray Family" skit and music will be furnished by Frances Langford, and Kenny Baker, Irene Ryan will also be heard.

ASHVILLE

Ashville, Phone 79

John Curry, out on one of those very frosty cold days and easy enough now to know that he had ought not to have been doing such thing, received a much frozen foot. Under the doctor's care, it is on the improve.

The park shelter house, some 40x80 feet in dimension base measurement, 10 feet in height, is completed by the contractor, Fred Curry and Herb Gregg. To serve the purpose for which it is intended to serve, much yet remains to be done in form of enclosure. The date, however, for this last named construction to begin, has not been named.

In "our rounds" Saturday visited for a short time at the "Turn Around the Corner" Boor plow attachment works, and found both Mr. Boor and his assistant, Marion Glick, both very busy putting the "finishing touches" on another one of their "new fangled" breaking plow devices for perfect round corner turns without a halt of the pulling motor power. Mr. Boor told us he is fitting up several of these for demonstrators which will be put to work and on trial soon as the weather will permit of field plowing.

An extraordinary fine team of horses is sure to attract attention

wherever shown. We are telling you of a matched team of heavy, sorrel mares, weight 3600 pounds, six and seven years of age, full sisters and owned Saturday by our horse dealer, Clarence Messick. This team is valued at $500 and was purchased by Mr. Messick a few days ago in Union County. Said he hoped this team would remain on the farm and in the community.

Clyde Brinker, deputy registrar for auto license plates, is expecting a supply in now soon. Sale begins March 1 and may be used by the 10th.

Did they get out? We say they did. Saturday at "headquarters" the dozen or so assembled there met up with an unusual experience and the superstitious ones have the shivers yet. Dr. Gardner came in which is a usual custom and even when Ed. Schlegel, mortician, appeared nothing was particularly thought of it, but when George Finch over Commercial Point way, appeared on the scene, another mural artist, that was more than the "sure sign" boys could take and a lot of 'em had business to attend to elsewhere — two undertakers and a doctor in one spot at the same time was too much for most anybody to take and not feel creepy like.

HITLER GETS 'EM UP

THEY can't get 'em up, they can't get 'em up, in the morning! Maybe they can in the German army, where discipline has always been very strict. But the Labor Front is getting in Dutch with the government, by being late to work sometimes, and even taking a day off once in a while. From now on, there will have to be a mighty good reason for any such laxity. "Whoever absents himself from work without being seriously ill," says a Nazi poster displayed in factories, offices and stores throughout the country, "grossly violates his duty toward the commonwealth. By iron discipline, see to it that legal punitive measures must be resorted to as little as possible."

So Heinie will have to tumble out and get on the job whether he feels like it or not, and put in his ten hours without grumbling. It's one of the prices he pays for the blessings of a Nazi government. He must work harder and longer, and sacrifice himself more and more, as that government embroils itself more deeply with its neighbors.

And does Heinie see that he is becoming a helpless slave of the Nazi State, with less and less life of his own? We wonder.

SCHOOL-GIRL EARNERS

BOYS working their way through high school are an old story. Boys who do not have to work to pay for textbooks and clothing often have paper routes or do Saturday odd jobs to earn their own spending money.

It is less well known that girls, too, often work their way through high school. One city school reports that 106 of its girl students are earning part of their schooling. They do light housework, take care of babies, fill part-time store and office jobs. One has a daily job minding a dog. They have no false pride about humble tasks and no fear of hard work.

The school itself helps the girls to find employment. The head of the vocational department investigates carefully before he sends a girl to any job. Her health and well-being are considered as important as the money she is to earn.

That school is proud of the determined young ladies who are willing to earn the education they want. And there must be many others in many other schools.

Everything will quiet down now for a little while, except on the Finnish front. The President has gone fishing.

The Anzacs have reached the war zone again, and Hitler may as well quit.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

THOUGH there's lots of it, agriculture is spread out so thin, it's so unconcentrated, that it doesn't respond very promptly to a suggestion which undoubtedly was intended to be for the joint good of urban labor, capitalistic employer, agriculture and everybody else. The plan—to get all these classes together, to hit on a program for their common benefit, all around—was put forward the other day by President William Green of the A. F. of L. He might have included distributors and consumers generally, too. However, these omissions unquestionably were a mere oversight. Green obviously meant the whole population.

He says the A. F. of L. wants congress to create a permanent advisory board to co-ordinate the interests of all hands. He recognizes that these interests are interdependent. He speaks of "economic recovery" as his objective.

The New Deal, to be sure, assumes that it's accomplished "economic recovery" already, but Bill Green evidently thinks not—he complains of plenty of unemployment yet—of young folk who can't "break in," and of older folk who prematurely are "squeezed out."

He blames government also, for having developed a popular "jittery state of mind." He not only wants "economic improvement"—he wants it in perpetuity.

BACK TO THE N.R.A.

His scheme somewhat dates back to the now defunct N.R.A., which was abandoned as a fizzle. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney likewise has a congressional committee, engaged in an attempt to re-adjust old-time conditions to modern days. But O'Mahoney's committee advertises itself as "temporary."

Bill Green urges a set-up forever of "industry, labor and agriculture."

Captains of industry are rather unexpectedly quite acquiescent. In not such very olden days they weren't overly ready to listen to hints from labor sources. Now they seem disposed to discuss William Green's scheme reasonably enough. Several of them already have expressed themselves, through the press, pretty favorably.

The fact that the A. F. of L. head was the individual to put forward the idea of an industrial-labor-agriculture alliance seems to imply that the organized workers are in a more placatory mood than they used to be.

Labor, on the one hand, evidently realizes that it, too, suffers when the employers are financially distressed. The employers, on the opposite hand, have come to

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

POPE INSPIRED MISSION

WASHINGTON—When Secretary Hull issued his statement that he had been working toward peace through neutral nations, it caused lifted eyebrows among neutral diplomats in Washington.

Gathering at a cocktail party that afternoon, a Swiss diplomat asked a Dutch diplomat:

"Were you the neutral nation Secretary Hull conferred with?"

"No. Were you?"

And this question, asked among the Belgians, Norwegians, Swedes, and other neutrals finally revealed that no neutral representative at the gathering had been approached by Secretary Hull.

Simultaneously word leaked from some of Mr. Hull's boys that he had not been consulted regarding the European peace pilgrimage of his Under Secretary, Sumner Welles, and that he was most irate about it. This story, widely published, gave such an impression that Welles was taking a mere pleasure trip, that Mr. Hull finally issued another statement last Wednesday covering the Welles situation.

Real fact is that there was some truth in all of the above, but not the whole truth. And the parts unpublished are the most significant.

REAL STORY

It was true that Hull was taken aback by word that his Under Secretary was going to Europe to discuss peace, although this idea had been discussed in a very general way some time before.

Anyway, when Roosevelt announced at his press conference on February 9 that he had decided to send Welles to Europe, Hull hurriedly threw together a statement which in effect made it clear that, as the boss of the State Department, he was not being left out in the cold. The statement, issued the same day as the President's Welles announcement, was whipped into shape in about fifteen minutes. It emphasized the American policy of discussing peace through the neutrals.

All this tended to befog the basic issue of peace, but on that basic issue, Mr. Hull was quite correct. Some extremely important conversations had taken place with the neutrals. Only the neutral diplomats didn't know about them, and also they were not held through the medium of the United States.

They were held through the Pope, acting in closest co-operation with Washington. And this is the foundation for the Welles trip.

For some weeks, Luigi Maglione, Papal secretary of state, has been in touch with the neutral nations. And more recently he has also been in touch with the belligerents.

These conversations have revealed a not uncompromising basis for peace. Just exactly how promising it is, will be partly for Welles to decide when he gets to Rome. So far there have been some indications that a statement might come from the Vatican, even going so far as to call a peace conference.

This, however, will be decided after Welles gets to Rome. The main goal of both the President and the Pope is to get

Visiting the Oldest Hospital in the U. S.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I RECENTLY described my visit to the oldest hospital on the North American continent—the Hospital of Jesus in Mexico City. On my way to Mexico I paused in New Orleans and visited the oldest hospital in the United States—the Charity Hospital. (The second and third oldest hospitals in North America are in Canada.)

There is some partisan dispute as to which is the oldest hospital in the United States, some claiming the honor for the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. The Philadelphiaans say that the Charity was first an almshouse and only later a hospital, but the record shows that as early as May 20, 1737, there were five patients under treatment at the Charity.

In 1736 a sailor, Jean Louis, died in New Orleans, leaving all his estate to found a haven for the city's poor. They were to be given suitable work "so there would be no mendicants." In 1779 the old hospital was destroyed by a hurricane, but in 1782 the gift of over $100,000 by the richest citizen of the New World provided a new building, with much of the debris of the old being used. The calamity of fire destroyed it in 1809, but it was again rebuilt near Rampart Street. Within the past few years it has moved to Tulane Avenue, in fine new quarters.

Famous Doctor

The most famous of its doctors was David C. Kerwas. He was attached to the invading British army in 1814, but allowed himself to be captured by Andrew Jackson's troops at the Battle of New Orleans because he felt his future was in the United States.

The old records show some things strange to modern eyes. The hospital was the largest dispensary for alcoholic drinks in the city in 1832, and made a large part of its income by operating as a saloon. The expenditures at this time included $298 for candles of sperm whale fat, $202 for leeches to bleed patients with, and $111 for surgical instruments. This scanty allowance is accounted for by the fact that each surgeon provided his own instruments and was very proud of them and the case that held them.

Unhealthiest City

New Orleans, by reason of its geographic position and also because of its port, which harbored world-wide shipping, was then the unhealthiest city in the country. Not only malaria bred in its mosquito-infested swamps, but yellow fever was brought in ships coming from Jamaica and the West Indies. The United States seaports from 1750 to 1850 were the sites of epidemic after epidemic of yellow fever. Modern sanitation has eliminated all that, and a medical student today probably never sees a single case. I know I never have seen a case.

The drainage of New Orleans was always a great problem, and gave rise to another set of plagues—dysentery and cholera. These, too, are diseases of the past.

In 1834 the internal management and nursing in the hospitals were taken over by the Sisters of Saint Vincent de Paul, known generally as the Sisters of Charity—an event considered the most notable in the annals of the hospital.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

MRS. HAYWORTH was far from asleep. She was lying in her bed enjoying her anger to the full. Her husband's merry whistle added further to her irritation. She sat up indignantly.

"Dover, stop that insane noise this instant!"

Father Hayworth stopped dead in the middle of a note, and looked at her in astonishment.

"Well, mother, I'm darned! What's eatin' you tonight?"

She put her feet down and slid into her mules.

"Sit down," she commanded. "I want to talk with you."

"Of course, dear," the rotund syrup king planted himself in an uncomfortable modernistic chair with an irritatingly cheerful air.

"But don't keep me sittin' in this thing too long. I'll get callouses."

"Well, get them!" snapped his wife. "Who cares?"

She stood up, looking down on her husband with penetrating eyes that sparkled with indignation.

"I found out something today," she began angrily, "and never mind asking my source of information, because I won't tell you. About an actress!"

Mr. Hayworth reached for his pipe, grinning.

"It's a lie. It was two actresses. Now, Carrie, calm yourself and sit down. You'll have a heart attack. I haven't been doing anything wrong and you know it. You've been listening to somebody's gossip again."

"Who said anything about you doing anything wrong," the wife snapped at him again. "It's that son of yours this time."

"Well, then, let's have it," Mr. Hayworth said patiently. "But softly, please. There are servants in the house."

"You know perfectly well I never raise my voice," the woman said regally. "Do you know who that girl is you hired to play the piano on that morning radio program?"

"Sure," the old man said placidly. "Charlotte O'Neil. Calls herself Cholly for theatrical purposes. Good piano player, too. Couldn't do better myself."

Usually teasing brought Carrie out of her fits of temper. But it had the opposite effect this time. She stamped her foot.

"Will you stop fooling around and talk some sense, Dover Hayworth! What I'm trying to tell you is that your son is mixed up with this red-headed person."

The mischief left the father's round, cheerful face. He looked bewildered.

"What's that? What—do you mean, mixed up? He doesn't even know her!"

"Oh, doesn't he? Well, she's been on his yacht and she makes her places. She's his—" hesitated. "Well, she has tricked Junior into putting her on the air."

some way. He's been framed. I know it!"

Hayworth had lost some of his color.

"Oh, piffle!" he exclaimed. "I don't believe it. You've been listening to talk again."

"My source of information"—Mrs. Hayworth sat down firmly, glad that she had impressed him with the seriousness of things at last—"is infallible. It came from someone who is very fond of Junior."

The syrup magnate by that time was just a worried father. Dover, the third, had been a remarkably good boy to have had everything in the world dumped into his lap. Too much money and no responsibility usually, sooner or later, meant that a young man would get into some kind of trouble. Woman trouble was more than likely to be it.

The old man sighed. His wife remained silent, watching him. Hayworth got up, running his hand through his thinning gray locks.

"Well," he said then, "I hope this is just talk, Carrie. But there may be something to it. I'll have a talk with the boy when he gets in. I'll leave word. We'll soon get to the bottom of this thing."

The mother had lost her anger. She loved her husband very dearly, in spite of her occasional tantrums. She got up and went over to put her hand on his arm.

"I'm sorry I was so upset, Dover. But when I found out this girl was a good friend of Dover's and that he hadn't told us, I just went crazy with worry. You know boys, and how bad girls can wrap them around their fingers."

Hayworth patted his wife's hand.

"Well, I have a great deal of confidence in our boy, Carrie. And you get some sleep and stop worrying till I have a talk with him. There's probably nothing to it."

He kissed her and left unhappily. From his own quarters he summoned the butler and told him to awaken him when his son came in, no matter what the hour might be.

Mr. Hayworth went to bed with a book, and was still reading at two in the morning when Dover knocked on his door.

"Anything wrong, Pop?" He stuck his head in the door.

"Come in," the father invited, laying down his book. "I wanted to have a little talk with you."

Dove grinned, yawning.

"Aren't you keeping kind of late hours?"

He went over and sat on his father's bed. Dover, the third, was the apple of the older man's eye. He smiled affectionately, trying not to look worried.

"It's about the only hour I seem to be able to get you to sit in on a conference these days—since you've become radio head of the company."

"Yeah!" Dove grinned again. "My responsibilities do weigh pretty heavy. I'm doing a pretty swell job though, don't you think? Isn't that new pianist a honey?"

The father rubbed his chin, watching Dover closely.

"Well," he admitted, "she's a good piano player all right. But as to her being a honey, I guess you know more about that than I do."

Dove said, dropping his eyes boyishly:

"Oh, I get it! So you know?"

"Know what, son?"

"That Cholly and I have been going around together a lot. I'm sorry, Dad. I should have told you. But I was afraid."

"Afraid of what, Dover?" Mr. Hayworth's voice was kind. "Have I ever given you any occasion to be afraid of me? Why should you think there is anything you can't tell me? That you'd have to hide—"

Dove sighed, shaking his head. "This is a peculiar situation, Pop. He stretched out on the bed beside the older man as if he meant to make a clean breast of something. "I'm glad to get it off my chest. I guess I did slip something over on you. But it just had to be. It's the only way I could help Cholly, and I was going crazy worrying about her."

The father reached for another pillow, put it under Dover's head, and arranged himself comfortably.

"Begin at the beginning, son." He took a cigarette from the table beside him, handing one to Dover.

Dove lit his cigaret silently. Then he began. It was difficult at first, but with his father nodding encouragement, or making a small comment, the task became easier. With glowing words, the young man painted a portrait of the girl he loved.

They had met, he told his father, on the yacht. He spoke of Romney and of Nelson and of the ride home in the moonlight when he had tried to lend Cholly money. She had a mother and seven brothers and sisters to support, but she had angrily refused his help.

Then, Dover confessed, he had fallen in love with her. Knowing how his mother would feel, and that his father, too, might be disappointed if he didn't make a brilliant marriage, he had fought for three months to keep from breaking down and letting Cholly know the way he felt.

The radio program was the only way he could think of to ease her burden. She was so little and proud and good. Dover related how he had gone to Bob Lane after getting his father's consent to a program, and how they had tricked Cholly into signing the contract.

"But you don't need to worry," Dover sat up finally, and his face was white and strained. "She won't marry me. She turned me down flat! If you ask her to tear up the radio contract, she'll do it in a second. But for my sake—don't do it, Pop. Please!"

Birthday Party

Mrs. John Kerns of West Union Street, complimented her daughter, Polly Jane, when she entertained the members of her Sunday School Class, Friday, in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Party appointments in keeping with George Washington's birthday were used for the affair.

Games and contests were the diversions, with a large birthday cake as a feature of the delightful lunch. A shower of useful gifts was received by the honor guest. The guests were June Ellen Cook, Delores Hawkes, Kathleen Smith, Vivian Belknap, Marjorie Francis, Margie Dancy, Maxine Ankrom, Mary Harrison, Reah Jean Mason and Ann Curtain.

Arlidge-Pyle Marriage

Miss Marjorie Pyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Pyle of near Amanda, and Mr. James Arledge of East Franklin Street were married Saturday at 5:30 p. m., the Rev. A. N. Gruesser reading the nuptial service at the United Brethren parsonage.

For her wedding, the former Miss Pyle chose a brown tailored suit with which she wore dusty pink accessories. The bride is a graduate of Walnut Township High School in the class of 1937.

Mr. Arledge is a printer for the Circleville Herald. They plan to establish their home in Circleville after May 1.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McPherson entertained at dinner Sunday at their home at Pherson, the affair marking Mr. McPherson's birthday anniversary.

Candles and lovely flowers in a color theme of pink and white decorated the table which was centered with a large birthday cake.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McPherson and R. E. Ferguson of Bucyrus; Mrs. Jennie Reeves and Frank A. Dye of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dountz of Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bach and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. McPherson of Pherson.

Valentine Party

Fifty-five attended the Valentine party of the Mission Band and Little Heralds of the Calvary Evangelical Church, the group

Today's Fashion

THE SHOPS are beginning to burgeon with distinguished trifles destined to bring chic and dash to spring clothes. First, of course, is a spring bonnet, and it is interesting to note that the snood is here again. Amber jersey softens the black felt derby. The ornament, shown in detail in a separate sketch, is of amber shell composition, a popular trim. The tailored one-button glove is of dooskin, trimmed with a tiny pleated ruffle. The belt is of deep, purple suede and has for its clasp a silver heart with a tender inscription, plus a separate lock and key. The silver humming bird is due to light on a smart jacket lapel. Long navy blue suede glove has pink scalloped trim from tip of second finger to top of glove.

gathering in the social room at 1:30 p. m.

The program included group singing and the lesson from the study book, after which games were played. The members passed some time sewing on their card mottoes.

Lunch was served at tables attractively decorated with Valentines. The affair was in charge of the leaders, Mrs. C. J. Martin, Mrs. Pearl Delong and Mrs. June Martindale, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Ramsey.

Business Women's Club

The regular session of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Morrison, East Main Street.

Preceding the business hour, the club members will attend the annual Brotherhood dinner of the Methodist Church.

Bob-Sled Ride

About 50 members of the Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church enjoyed a bob-sled ride through the streets of Circleville, recently, an informal party at the parish house being enjoyed later in the evening.

Ashville Garden Club

Mrs. Walter Hedges was elected treasurer of the Ashville Garden Club at its recent meeting, instead of Mrs. George Kuhn as announced.

An enjoyable feature of the evening's entertainment was the accordion solos played by Ada Lou Beckett.

Does Your Nose Clog, Spoil Sleep...and make you snore?

HERE'S MIGHTY GOOD NEWS...If your nose "closes up" at night and makes breathing difficult, put a few drops of Vicks Vapo-nol up each nostril.

RESULTS ARE SO GOOD because Vicks Vapo-nol is expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where transient congestion often hinders breathing. You can actually feel it go to work bringing relief.

TRY IT TONIGHT—enjoy the comfort Vicks Vapo-nol brings.

Today's Menu

Roast Pork Baked Beans
Canned Green Beans
Molded Vegetable Salad
French Apple Pie Coffee

BAKED BEANS — Ingredients: one pound dried navy beans, one-quarter pound salt pork, one can tomato soup, one-half cup catsup, one tablespoon molasses, one teaspoon dried mustard mixed with a little cold water. Soak beans over-night in cold water to cover; pour water off, cover with fresh water and cook beans gently until the skins will roll up when you blow on a few in a spoon. You do not want to cook them to a mush. Put them in bean pot or crock, with water in which they were cooked, add mustard, catsup, tomato soup, molasses, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and mix thoroughly. Bury salt pork in center and bake in very slow oven, covered, for at least three or four hours.

Frozen Apple Pie—Ingredients: three apples, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter or oleomargarine, one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one cup milk, two eggs, one-half teaspoon salt. Slice apples into deep baking dish, sprinkle with two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon; add one tablespoon boiling water, cover tightly and bake in moderate oven for 15 minutes. Make batter of other ingredients, creaming butter or substitute, then adding beaten yolks of eggs (saving whites for meringue), part of milk, then part of flour sifted with baking powder, alternating the milk and flour until all are used. Spread batter over cooked apples and bake until brown. Invert on pie tin, cover with meringue made from the whites of eggs, beaten stiff with two tablespoons confectioners' sugar, and set in slow oven to brown.

HALIBUT Creole — Place halibut steak in oiled shallow baking pan. Dot fish with butter; season with salt, pepper; sprinkle with finely-minced onion and green pepper. Cover with layer of dry bread crumbs. Bake in hot oven until vegetables are soft and beginning to brown.

Frozen Apricot Shortcake—Ingredients: one cup dried apricots, two and one-half cups water, one-third cup granulated sugar, one teaspoon granulated gelatin, one tablespoon cold water, one beaten egg, one-fourth cup granulated sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup whipping cream, sponge cake. Boil apricots in water until very soft, about 25 minutes; add sugar, allow to come to good boil, remove from fire and beat to pulp. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot apricots; cool. Beat egg very light, add sugar, vanilla and beat again. Whip cream and blend with egg. Arrange a layer of sponge cake, cut about one-fourth inch thick, in bottom of refrigerator pan, spread with apricots and cover with whipped mixture. Freeze, but not too hard. Cut in squares and serve with cream side up. Serves six.

Cage Games To Help Swell Fund Collected For New Band Suits

Circleville basketball fans will be given another opportunity to watch the speedy Red and Black varsity in action Tuesday evening when a game is played for benefit of the Band Uniform Fund with members of the alumni, boys who have worn the Red and Black in former years, providing the opposition.

The game will start at 9 o'clock following a contest between the Circleville Athletic Club and the Anchor-Hocking Glass team of Lancaster. This contest alone is enough attraction to fill the Club gymnasium. The Anchor-Hocking outfit boasts of numerous stars including Buck Lawrence, who played at Ohio U. a couple of years back.

The High School team is expected to be intact for the game although Harold Smith, one of Roy Black's aces, is suffering from an ouchy ankle that was hurt at Oak Hill just as the game ended. Smith was carried off the floor, but he may be ready to play. Coach Black expects to use him only a small part of the time, if he starts him at all, because the Greenfield game is on the schedule Friday and the Tiger mentor intends that his boys shall be at full strength against the South Central Ohio League champs.

All other members of the first squad are ready for action, although Paul Walters is slowed down considerably by a bad toe. It is likely that Jimmy Callihan and Jim Carr will see plenty of action against the Alumni at the forward and center positions. If the varsity is able to gain a comfortable edge on the Alumni, it is possible that the second five comprised of Callihan, Valentine, Carr, Geib and Martin will get some experience during the evening.

The Alumni aggregation is expected to be a strong one, though, with John Jenkins, Warren Bumgarner, Chuck Styers, Junior Martin, Fred Grant, Don Jackson and several others expected to perform. It is possible that Don Henry, Dick Mader and Dave Jackson, all attending Ohio State, may don uniforms for the contest.

DARBY GIRLS SURVIVE

Deercreek, Jackson Youths Bumped From Competition By Large Scores

With the Pickaway County basketball tournament running true to form in every respect, only six teams remained in the running today for the much-coveted county championships. They were Pickaway, New Holland, Ashville and Monroe in the boys' division and New Holland and Darby Township in the girls' tourney.

Results of Saturday night's games, played before a fair-sized crowd in the new Atlanta gym, were:

Boys
Ashville 43, Deercreek 16.
Monroe Township 50; Jackson Township 25.

Girls
Darby Township 43, Ashville 26.

Ashville and Monroe were expected to win, but the ease with which they took their opponents over the coals was surprising. Deercreek's boys had only six points in the first half of their game, Barney Reese, ace Ashville guard, stopping Easter, who starred against Perry, with only two points, those gained on a second half bucket. Gregg, Reese and Swisher peppered the bucket for Ashville to get 16, 10 and nine points, respectively. Eddie Carter was high for the losers with seven points.

The Monroe-Jackson game found the Five Points boys dropping the leather through the net from all angles and hard-driving basketball to gain their big margin. Buck Reid, Merle Neff and Harold Willoughby were the offensive powers for the Monroe lads with 13, 12 and 13 points, respectively. Bumgarner hit for a 15 total for his team, Mowery being the only other Jackson boy to connect from action.

Darby's Fannie Hicks went to town against Ashville's scragging picks to run up 22 points on 10 field goals and two charity tosses, just four points less than the entire Ashville team counted. Jean Stroebel and Miriam Graessle added nine and 12 points, respectively, to the total. Dunnick kept Ashville in the game with 14 counters.

Next Friday's games will find Pickaway and New Holland tangling at 7 o'clock, Monroe and Ashville girls in the consolation at 8 o'clock, and Ashville and Monroe boys in another semi-final match at 9 o'clock.

HEAVY WEEKEND RAINFALL ADDS TO DANGERS OF OHIO VALLEY FLOOD

PATROL FINDS ROADS UNSAFE IN SOME AREAS

Precipitation Total For Sunday Reaches .85 Of Inch Locally

SCIOTO CONTINUES RISE

Northern, Eastern Parts Of State Covered With Snow

Ohio Valley's spring thaw flood peril will be heightened as more rain and snow is predicted by the weather bureau to be added to the downpour that struck the state during the week end. The United States weather bureau reported that barring a sudden rise in temperature there is no immediate danger of high water.

Rain, sleet and snow, whipped by a 25-mile-an-hour wind, drenched Central Ohio Sunday and by nightfall the precipitation was one-half inch.

Hazardous driving conditions were reported by the State Highway Patrol throughout the state, while substations reported one to four inches of snow northward from Van Wert, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon, Newark, Zanesville, Cambridge and St. Clairsville. Steubenville was in the center of the worst of the storm.

Rainfall in Circleville Sunday totaled .85 of an inch. The temperature reached a maximum of 41 degrees and a minimum of 36 degrees.

River Rises Steadily

The Scioto River is three and one-half feet above normal and is showing a slight and steady rise. No danger is expected since most of the snow has melted and is moving out and the surrounding land is drying. More rain and snow may alter the present condition, but not seriously.

State Route 666 on the east bank of the Muskingum River was flooded when jammed ice forced the river over its banks north of Zanesville. It was listed as closed on Sunday by the State Highway Patrol which expected more high water reports.

Lawrence County creeks overflowed their banks with 15 inches of water covering a stretch of route 75, between Ironton and Jackson.

Despite all the swollen streams weather observers said that the flood danger is lessened because most of the larger streams, including the Ohio, are free from ice jams.

Weather bureaus are not expecting any sudden temperature rises to bring on flood conditions as the heavy snows melt. Freezing temperatures are expected throughout most of the state.

WIEDOFT, RUDY VALLEE TEACHER, IS DEAD AT 46

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — Death today had overtaken Rudolph Wiedoft, 46, the patron saint of saxophone players and the man who gave Rudy Vallee his first lessons on the instrument. A musical pioneer, Wiedoft revived the then little-played saxophone 20 years ago and wrote numerous saxophone solos including "Saxophobia," a musical gospel of saxophonists.

NANCY A. ALDENDERFER IS DEAD AT CEDAR HILL

Mrs. Nancy A. Aldenderfer, 89, widow of Amos Aldenderfer, died Sunday at 11:15 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Dora Spangler, Cedar Hill. Mrs. Aldenderfer's illness was lengthy.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Spangler at whose home she died, and Mrs. Laura Riegel of Cedar Hill; two sons, Arthur of Columbus and Joseph of Ashville, and two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Marion of Amanda and Mrs. Emma Myers of Groveport.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Dutch Hollow Lutheran Church, the Rev. J. H. Lutz officiating with burial in Amanda Township Cemetery by Crites and Van Cleave.

Mrs. Aldenderfer was a daughter of Joseph and Hannah Steward Christy.

BANDITS STAB AGED MAN

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19 — Eighty-year-old John McNeal, who was stabbed in the back by one of two bandits who robbed him of six dollars, was reported in good condition (in White Cross Hospital) today. Although hospital attaches feared his lung may have been punctured, the octogenarian's only complaint was that he "was a little lame in the back."

A. F. OF L. FIGHT

The story behind the near fist fight between Dan Tobin, head of the teamsters' union, and Big Bill Hutcheson, boss of the carpenters, at the Miami meeting of the AFL executive committee is that both boys had been in training for it since the last AFL convention at Cincinnati.

At that time Hutcheson, bitter anti-New Deal Republican, was put into a vacancy on the executive committee created by the forced retirement of First Vice President Frank Duffy, and instead of going to the bottom of the list as fifth vice president, the usual procedure, Big Bill's pals swung a deal giving him Duffy's No. 1 spot as "First Vice President."

As such he ranks next to AFL President Bill Green and nine notches above Dan Tobin, staunchest New Deal supporter on the executive board. To be superseded in this highhanded manner, especially by the Republican conservative Hutcheson, so enraged Tobin that he threatened to resign in protest. He even considered taking his 350,000 teamsters—one of the strongest unions—out of the AFL.

With this as a backdrop it is easy to understand why at Miami Green's introduction of Big Bill Hutcheson as "First Vice President" was like waving a red flag in Tobin's face. He leaped to his feet protesting that Hutcheson had no right to the title and urged that it be voted on.

"You're playing Democratic politics," shouted Hutcheson.

"I'm not playing politics!" retorted Tobin. "This is the first time anybody ever got your seat without working his way up to it. I wouldn't be so proud of that if I were you."

"Well, I'm here whether you like it or not," barked Hutcheson. "Well, I don't like it," stormed Tobin. Suddenly both men rushed at each other. Tobin removed his glasses. But before any serious blows were struck the two belligerents were parted. Fortunately for A. F. of L. harmony, the incident happened at a private session of the Executive Committee.

NIGHT CLUB ON RT. 23 LEVELED AT $10,000 LOSS

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 19—Levelled to the ground by a blaze which started from an undetermined source, the Four Aces Night Club, three miles south of Chillicothe on U. S. 23, had its last fling as a "hot spot" Saturday night. The loss, estimated at $10,000, was not covered by insurance, Louis Ater, who operated the club with his brother Raymond, said.

It is thought that the fire started on the back porch near the kitchen quarters at about 7:30 p. m. Within an hour the structure 36 feet wide and 106 feet long was a pile of debris and sizzling embers.

A $3,000 addition was built a year ago and previous remodeling cost $2,000. The estimated value of the equipment was set at $5,000.

Louis Ater had stopped at the club at about 6:30 to pick up the watchman and take him to Chillicothe. An hour later the flames broke out on the back porch where there is no electrical wiring which might have started the fire.

The club building fire was beyond any possibility of control when the Chillicothe fire department trucks arrived. Smaller structures behind the club building were saved from destruction by the firemen.

Raymond Ater, partner in the business, is vacationing in Florida.

Banquet To Be Conducted In Hotel; Three Speakers Already Assured

Additional plans were made Saturday at a committee meeting in the Farm Bureau Home for the Corn and Soybean Show to be conducted March 1 in Memorial Hall as a feature of Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week planned by the Chamber of Commerce. About 30 interested persons were present for the meeting.

Classes will include: Corn: open pollinated, Reid yellow dent, clarge, Woodburn, white and any other variety, (10 ears to the entry); hybrid, two classes, yellow and white, eight prizes to be given.

There will be another class for corn in which a 40 ear sample of any variety of corn may be entered.

In the soybean division there will be two classes: Mandell and any other variety.

Ribbons will be presented in addition to cash prizes being lined up by the Chamber of Commerce. The Ralston-Purina Co. has agreed to present a trophy as a soybean sweepstakes prize.

Only samples grown in Pickaway County will be eligible for prizes in the corn and soybean competition.

Plans are being completed for the banquet to be conducted at 6:30 p. m. March 1 in the American Hotel "Hurricane", tickets to sell for 50 cents. The banquet will climax the Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week.

Three speakers have already been contacted to appear on the program, and others are being sought. They include Glenn McElroy of Irwin, president of the American Soybean Association; Prof. J. B. Park of the department of agronomy of Ohio State University, and Prof. A. W. McCuen of the department of agricultural engineering at the university. Their subjects will deal with soybean and corn growing.

Another meeting of persons arranging the Corn and Soybean Show will be held next Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Farm Bureau home.

GARNER CLASHES WITH PRESIDENT IN SOME STATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — In a third direct contest with President Roosevelt on the third term issue, Vice President John N. Garner today had decided to enter his name in the Oregon presidential primary.

Garner already has entered his name in the Wisconsin (April 2) and Illinois (April 9) primaries in which local Democrats entered slates of delegates pledged to a third term for the President. He will send his name into Oregon's May 17 contest within the next few days.

The Garner campaign in Oregon will be managed by General Charles H. Martin, former representative and former governor. Martin is one of the Far West's greatest characters, being a veteran of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine, Pekin, and Mexican expeditions, and the World War. Garnerites believe the vice president will win Oregon's 10 Democratic delegates under Martin's leadership.

Friends of Garner also expect him to win Wisconsin's 24-vote delegation from the Roosevelt third term forces, largely because there will be two Roosevelt slates in the contest. This conflict among third-termers in Wisconsin represents a battle between two factions of Democrats to control the state Democratic organization. In Illinois, the Garnerites are not so hopeful, but there they expect to win some down-state votes in the delegation of 58.

The Garner organization also expects to win California's 44 delegates, unless President Roosevelt comes out directly for a third term, unless the President declares himself, his name cannot be entered in that state's primary. Garner already has given his written consent to entering the primary that he carried in 1932.

Muhlenberg Twp. School News

1st and 2nd Grades

During the last week we have been centering our subjects around Valentine's day, including Music, Reading, Writing, and Art.

Bobby Petee, Ollie Speakman, and Eramela Holbert were on the second grade Spelling Honor roll this week.

In music we are working on a program for George Washington's birthday. The first and second grades are learning songs.

3rd and 4th Grades

The fourth grade Spelling honor roll pupils are as follows: Maxine Ankrom, Meril Ferguson, and Billy Wright.

Valentine Day there was no school and we gave our party and passed out our valentines on Thursday. Jerry Kinder was absent this day so Norma Jean Ankrom took his Valentines home to him.

The third grade spelling honor roll is as follows: Mary Corne, Joan Hilderbrand, Eugene Prushing, Maxine Smith, and Mary Sue Riser.

Friday was Music day. We had Tonette class in the music room after dinner.

5th and 6th Grades

The following pupils were on the Spelling honor roll this week in the fifth grade: Norma Jean Ankrom, Verna Mae Huffer, Sally Lee Brigner, Mary Jean Carpenter, Kenneth Holbert, and Maribelle Joy Smith.

We had twenty-three enrolled and only had three absentees during the week.

The sixth grade honor roll in spelling is as follows: Billy Ankrom, Billy Palmer, Carl Hilderbrand, Rosetta Buskirk, Nellie Bagnier, and Robert Corne.

Mary Jean Carpenter will give a talk on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" in chapel Thursday afternoon.

7th and 8th Grades

Tuesday night of last week a number of pupils attended church. This was school night at the church. Our chorus, directed by Mr. Weidinger, sang two numbers and James McKinney sang a vocal solo.

In English the seventh grade is planning to make a school newspaper. We are going to elect the editor and his staff of workers next week.

The following students are on the seventh grade spelling honor roll: William Corne, Florence Brigner, Fred Hinton, Willard Robinson, Elizabeth Morgan, Mary Jane Willoughby, Marvane Swank, Irvin Brigner, Willis Neff, Wanna Brigner, Faith Grabill and James McKinney.

In Physical Education we have started a posture contest from the third grade to the eighth grade. Out interest has been aroused considerable due to the fact that each day we walk, sit, and stand correctly throughout the day we receive a gold star. Each room has chosen their Captains for their teams. At the end of two weeks the team that has the most stars is the winner. Captains are Billy Wright, Glenn Messmore, Mary Siniff, Billy Palmer, Mary Jane Willoughby and Betty Corne.

Plans are being made for a school carnival and an Amateur night to be conducted in our school about the first week in March. Watch for more details in the school news next week.

There was no school Wednesday due to the weather conditions therefore our Valentine party was held on Thursday afternoon. Irvin Brigner favored the group with two harmonic solos and a quartet sang a group of popular songs which was very pleasing to the students. The quartet consisted of Ida Buskirk, Wanna Brigner, Betty Smith and Delores Huffer. Marvane Swank accompanied them at the piano. Betty Smith sang a solo and did a tap dance for us. After the program a number of games were played, which proved to be the height of the program. Following this our teacher treated us with jello, cake, and a large eady Valentine with our names printed on each one. We enjoyed the party very much.

Thursday afternoon February 22, we are having a chapel program in the auditorium in honor of Washington's birthday. The Rev. Robert Lawrence will be the speaker. The program is as follows:

Song School Invocation Rev. R. Lawrence Song 1st and 2nd Grades Poem Billy Wright Talk Mary Jean Carpenter Trumpet Duet Billy Wright and Lola Reedy Life of Washington Rev. Robert Lawrence

Song School The public is cordially invited. Admission free.

The following pupils are on the Spelling honor roll in the eighth grade: Donald Corne, Betty Corne, Betty Smith, Delores Huffer, and Julia Speakman.

In English both grades have visited the library and each student has chosen a book to make a report on in the next three weeks. Classes were started in Industrial arts for the upper grade boys, with Mr. Weidinger as their instructor, and in Home Economics for the upper grade girls with Miss Hogan teaching.

Every Tuesday and Thursday from 12:30 until 1:00 p. m. Mr. Weidinger is conducting classes in tap dancing. We have thirty-four students enrolled in this class which is proving to be very interesting, amusing, and educational.

WIDOW OF NOAH WEAVER DIES IN ARLINGTON HOME

Mrs. Minnie E. Weaver, 71, widow of Noah E. Weaver and a resident of Circleville until eight years ago, died Sunday at 4 p. m. at her home in Upper Arlington after an illness of several months following an infection resulting from a fall several years ago.

Mrs. Weaver removed to Columbus after the death of her husband.

She was born in Tarlton April 8, 1867, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mowery. She spent her early life in that community where she became a music teacher, and in 1890 she married Noah E. Weaver of Thatcher.

Surviving are three children, Nellie, wife of Dr. Anson Brown of Columbus, and Fred and Lloyd Weaver of the home; two grandchildren, Donna Lee and Rita Jean Brown of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Ralph Long of Circleville, and three brothers, Arlo Mowery, a patient in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Dayton; Lee of Cleveland and Dill of Cambridge. Mrs. Weaver also mothered a nephew, Robert Long, whom she had reared since babyhood.

Mrs. Weaver was a past matron of the Circleville Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and a member of the Circleville First Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Schoedinger and Co. Funeral Home, Columbus, with burial to be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

COAT FOUND IN LOOT IDENTIFIED BY STORE

C. H. Padden, of the West Virginia Highway Patrol, has located the owner of the black coat that was found among the loot when six alleged shoplifters were caught in Circleville last Saturday night.

The coat belongs to the Beckley Department Store of Beckley, West Virginia and the manager of the store could recognize from photographs only L. T. Cade as one of the persons who had visited the store. Earlier this week, Jack Stevens, driver for the ring, said that Miss Cade was not implicated with the gang in any way, but she was a passenger who had been picked up and was being taken to Detroit as a favor.
